It's an insult to your intelligence, but some unscrupulous dealers try it. For instance: you're suffering from some Skin, Scalp or Scrofulous affection, or are feeling "run-down" or "used-up," There's a torpid liver, impure blood, and all that may come from it.
You've decided, wisely, that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the medicine to help you. You know that it's guaranteed to do so, as no other blood purifier is.
If it doesn't benefit or cure, you get your money back.
Can you ask more?
But what is best for you to take isn't always best for the dealer to sell. He offers something that's "just as good." Is it likely? If the makers of a medicine can't trust it, can you?
If they can trust it, then why not guarantee it, as the makers of the "Discovery" do?
The genuine sold only through authorized agents, at the uniform price of $1.00.

Cold Water Advocates by the Thousand

The Convention Called to Order—Gossip Picked Up Among the Visitors—Routine Work—General Mention.

Cincinnati, June 29.—Sincere in the faith that is within them, and fired with energy and enthusiasm to go forward to the goal they have set before them, the advocates of the total prohibition and suppression of the liquor traffic have been gathering here for the past few days preparatory to the holding of their national convention, and at which their standard bearers for president and vice-president will be placed before the country.

They are here from every quarter of the continent, from cheerless frigid Maine where the draught that cheers and likewise inebriates is tabooed by the law, and where it is as difficult for a stranger to procure his customary solace as it is for a rich man to enter the kingdom of heaven; from the fertile fields of the Golden state, the vineyard of the continent, and which of late years has been sending out not only to this country, but to the nations of Europe, an overwhelming abundance of that "which maketh the heart of man glad;" from the sunny south, where, as a Kentuckian told the democratic convention a few days ago, a majority of the population take their whisky straight; from the great northwest which believes in moderation in all things but extremes in none, from prohibition Iowa—prohibition only in reputation and party platforms; from nearly every state and every territory; from high licensed towns, and low licensed towns, and local option towns, they are here.

All are working in one common cause in the interest, according to the light that is within them, of humanity. There are probably two thousand accredited delegates. There are five times that number of adherents of the cause who have been attracted thither by the event. Some of them, men and women, with their heads plentifully streaked with silver, have devoted the best years of their lives to the promotion of temperance.

Among these are Francis Willard, John P. St. John, Mary Lathrop, Col. George W. Payne of Kentucky, Judge Amos Briggs, Gideon Stewart of Ohio, William Jennings Demorest of New York and Samuel Dickey of Michigan. There are also many young men and women among the delegates, an indication that the rising generation are prepared to take up the burden as the grandfathers and grandmothers are compelled one by one to lay it down.

In every detail it is perhaps the most representative assemblage of the opponents of the liquor traffic that has ever been convened in this country.

There is a good deal of speculation regarding the reasons which induced the national committee to change the place of holding the convention from St. Louis to this city. At the meeting of the national committee held in Chicago in January last St. Louis was chosen on the twelfth ballot.

A couple of months later Chairman Dickey visited that city and informed the local prohibitionists that their good fortune would cost them $2,500. He told them that it ought to be twice that figure, but as the executive committee didn't want to make money at the expense of St. Louis they would take $2,500, and turn over whatever balance might be left into the treasury of the party at large.

This, however, did not suit the St. Louis coldwater people, and they very bluntly informed the chairman that while they would pay all expenses of the convention they did not propose to raise the money and let the national committee have the handling of it. This proposition was not satisfactory, and so the official call, naming St. Louis as the place of the convention, was revoked, and Cincinnati, which had been her chief competitor, was decided upon.

These are the facts, although Chairman Dickey will not admit them. How much was offered or has been paid by the prohibitionists of this city for the honor of entertaining the convention is treated by those who know as a state secret.

OVER THE RHINE.

The Delegates Take In the Concert Halls at Night.

Cincinnati, June 29.—The work of the national convention of the prohibition party practically opened yesterday with a meeting of the national committee. Chairman Samuel T Dickie, of Ann Arbor, Mich., presided.

The primary object of the meeting was the selection of temporary officers for the convention proper, which assembles this morning in the mammoth Cincinnati Music hall, but the committee did not confine itself to routine, and was largely in the nature of a caucus to shape as far as possible, in advance, the proceedings of what might be the liveliest national convention ever held by the prohibitionists.

Attention was drawn to the coincidence that this latest promising presidential nominating convention of the party was held in Ohio—the state in which the first presidential candidates of the prohibitionists was named. All sorts of pleasant auguries were drawn from the fact. Gossip busied itself more, however, with a rather sensational incident that occurred late Monday night. It was a visit by a large number of well-known members of the party, including both sexes, to the liquor stronghold known as "Over the Rhine."

Gayety was at its height at Kissell's concert hall when the distinguished party entered the place. There was an air of intense refinement about the ladies and gentlemen who had just arrived that caused the people sitting at the tables scattered throughout the hall to look at them in wonderment. First came ex-Gov. John P. St. John, of Kansas, with Mrs. St. John leaning upon his arm; then came Rev. M. C. Lockwood, accompanied by Mrs. Helen Gougar. Mr. O. G. Peters and Mrs. Peters, of Columbus, O., were next. After them came Mr. C. C. Moore, Lexington, Ky.; Mr. Alex. Gustafsun, the well-known author; Miss Lathrop and Mr. R. Foster Stone, of La Plata, Mo.

They walked quietly to the rear end of the hall, where they remained for some minutes, noting not only the character of the performance, but also faces and demeanor of the young women in the place.

From Kissell's the party went to Peter's place across the street, and from there to Croshell's Lincoln hall. At this establishment they arrived just as Miss Erie Holley, in an abbreviated costume, was giving the motley audience a charming solo of the song and dance order.

The next visit was paid to Hartman's. A juggler was doing his act as the ladies and gentlemen, in single file, passed down the hall. Their mien was so serious that its depressing influence was felt almost instantly. The poor outcasts in the establishment realized that there was something of unusual importance connected with the new arrivals. The stay was a short one, for they were all anxious to go to the Berliner beer hall, where other girls and a number of men were sitting at tables near by enjoying the performance. One of the girls, in a short talk with Mrs. Helen Gougar, said that she received a commission of 20 per cent. on her sales, and that she had made during the afternoon and night about $3. She appeared to be well satisfied with her mode of existence, and had no complaints to make. The party did no mission work. They were simply seeking information, and did not endeavor in any way to interfere with the proceedings at any of the places visited. The prohibitionists express confidence that this will be the largest convention ever held, and they are making preparations to give the movement a boom.

CALLED TO ORDER.

Prohibition Delegates Get Down to Business.

Cincinnati, O., June 29.—The Music hall of the Queen City has been the scene of many a notable gathering that has left its impress upon the history of the state and of the country; but never has it held a more determined, earnest and enthusiastic meeting of men and women than that which assembled under its big dome this morning. The local committee had done its work well. Bunting entwined and looped in graceful folds ran from pillar to pillar between the balcony and the roof, crossing the intervening spaces in picturesque arches.

By 10 o'clock every delegation was in its place, and with their banners and flags and bright-hued badges and the life, energy and enthusiasm that they manifested, the scene on the floor was one of inspiration.

At 10:26 Chairman Dickie called the convention to order and introduced Rev. J. G. Evans, of Illinois, to lead in prayer.

Dr. Evans closed with an earnest appeal for the blessing of heaven on the convention.

Rev. Dr. Lockwood, pastor of the First Baptist church, was introduced to deliver the address of welcome. Dr. Lockwood spoke as follows:

DR LOCKWOOD.

A Stirring Address Welcoming the Delegates to Cincinnati.

"National convention of the Prohibition party of 1892: The city of Cincinnati greets you. A Cincinnati greeting never lacks the grace of hospitality; all that the representatives of this city promised your executive committee at Chicago, will be confirmed and more than fulfilled during your stay with us. You will find perfect arrangements and accommodations, unrivalled hosteries and a press, more zealous than you have ever known at any convention, to report truthfully and in detail the proceedings of this body. The guests of Cincinnati are never treated with scant courtesy. On behalf of our best citizens regardless of political opinions, I give you welcome.

"On behalf of the prohibitionists of Cincinnati I give you welcome. Your coming has been earnestly desired, that our citizens may learn that in intelligence, culture, and best of all, character, the prohibition party has never had a peer.

"On her platform are the ablest orators, among her counsellors the ripest scholars, and in her ranks the cleanest manhood.

"In your conventions there is the dignity of moral purpose, the enthusiasm of the purest patriot and the calm confidence of an unshaken faith.

"In this you differ from a convention whose only dignity was in its numbers, whose enthusiasm was inspired in barrooms, and whose calm confidence was in organized office-holders.

"You represent a party which has no faction ready to barter a president for a governor—historic proceedings in the democratic party from the days of Tilden to those of Grover Cleveland.

"You are welcomed by those in whom sentiment of loyalty to American institutions has survived. Welcome by those in this city, which is under the common double course of immigrated depravity, and a lawless liquor traffic, are hoping for better things.

"There is among our American population hidden fires of anger, rumblings of discontent pent up resentments, which are ful of the portent of our victory. The storm which is slowly gathering, has in it the stored up wrath of years, and its work will be swift and sure.

"The insolence and temerity of those against whom you are organized has fostered secret hate even in the servile officeholders in whom all love of country has not perished. From the governor in his chair to the policeman on his beat there is a concealed hatred of the traffic.

"A good deal of the battle against you is sham battle. Your chief work is to overcome animal gregariousness led by political herders, with the human organization of sentiment and principle.

"A belated train stood panting impatiently at a southern railroad station, the express agent was hurrying his work, one of his men came with a puppy in his arms. 'Hurry up,' said the agent. Where is that dog going?'

"And the man drawled out the answer: 'I dunno, he dunno, nooding, dunno, he's eat his tag.'

"Where would be the political destiny of the average democrat or republican if he should eat his tag?

"I welcome you on behalf of the most thoughtful, unselfish and best manhood among the labor leaders of our city. They are fast learning that industrial conditions cannot be improved apart from the improvement of moral conditions. 'The soul of all improvement' is the improvement of the soul. A better manhood is the first necessity for the success of organized labor. A better manhood is not possible in an environment of drunkenness and its concomitant evils.

"The labor and liquor problems cannot be separated. The prohibition party has naturally, logically, become a party in sympathy and in alliance with the labor leaders. (The word swmpathy I could not use alone, its meaning has been degraded in political uses.)

"I welcome you on behalf of the party in Ohio. A state with more politics in it to the square yard than any other state in the union. And if it is found that this convention will have more politics in it than any you have ever held, you may consider that it was due in part to its environment.

"Friends, if in anything my welcome has been found wanting, my fellow citzens will, by their cordiality, make ample amends, and you will pardon me if the head has not kept pace with the heart. We meant that you should have a royal welcome, and you shall, it could not be otherwise from the Queen city."

The national committee reported John P. St. John, of Kansas, for temporary chairman. The mention of the name of the ex-presidential candidate was greeted with ringing cheers. When order had been restored the ex-governor spoke as follows:

JOHN P. ST. JOHN.

Speech of the Temporary Chairman in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, June 29.—"Members of the Convention: I return my sincere thanks, and shall ever be grateful for the distinguished honor, of being chosen to preside as temporary chairman of this magnificent political convention, the greatest and grandest in sobriety, moral force and brain power, that ever convened on American soil. (Applause).

"It represents a party that dares to do right because it is right and condemn the wrong because it is wrong. (Cries of "that's so").

"It stands for peace, prosperity and happiness to every home, and death to every saloon in the land. (Applause).

"It demands for woman equal pay in the shop and equal say at the polls. (Prolonged cheers).

"A free ballot for the white men of Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Iowa, as well as for the black men of Mississippi, Louisiana and South Carolina. The north and south, east and west, black and white, rich or poor, every human being should have protection to life and property. (Applause).

"That the expenses of government be levied upon the wealth instead of the necessities of the people. (Applause).

"We claim that any system which imposes a high tariff on the food, fuel and clothing of the poor and lets the diamonds of the rich come in free is legalized robbery under the guise of "protection" and ought to be forever abolished. (Loud applause).

"That all money should be issued by the general government and every dollar whether gold, silver, or paper should stand upon an equality for all purposes. And that the coinage of both metals should be free. (Applause).

"That railway and telegraph lines should be under the control of the government to be operated at cost in the interest of all the people.

"That president and vice-president and United States senators should be elected by direct vote and that th eterm of president be extended to six years with no successive term for any man. (Cries of "that's right").

"That all monopolies which suppress the people ought to be suppressed. That the legalized liquor traffic for beverage purposes ought to be made a crime against humanity and driven from the face of the earth. (Loud applause).

"The prohibiton party is the only party that dares to fight this mighty curse of the world. (Cries of "that's so"). Here we are, and we have come to stay. From this hour on let no fusion, no deals, no compromise be our motto. (Loud applause).

"Let our platform be so broad, clear and comprehensive that all who love God, or home, or country can join in procession against the greatest monopoly that ever existed. It destroys 150,000 lives and costs $1,500,000,000 annually and sends misery, poverty, crime and heart ache broadcast among the people.

"The product of democratic and republican rule, it is a damning blot upon our civilization and a sin against God. We are ready to move on to victory. (Prolonged applause).

Repeated applause punctuated the address, especially the references to the platform and the question of non-fusion.

A. G. Wolfenberger, of Nebraska; A. G. Wilson and G. F. Stevens, of Massachusetts, were made temporary secretaries.

A motion to adopt the rules of the last convention as amended by the national committee, was carried.

ON A SERIOUS CHARGE.

Tiffin, O., June 29.—(Special)—Joseph Hoffman, of Green Spring, was jailed here to-day on a charge of attempting rape on Amanda Shouk, of Clyde, a young woman with whom he had been buggy riding Sunday. He was unable to furnish $1,000 bail.

J. T. HALL NAMED.

Des Moines, Ia., June 29.—The republicans of the Seventh district this morning renominated Hon. J. T. Hull for congress by acclamation.

A REMARKABLE RECOVERY.

Van Wert, O., June 29.—About ten days ago James Morfit, residing 15 miles south of this city, was struck by lightning. The electrical fluid struck him on the left side of the head, passing down his neck, across his breast, and completely melted a heavy solid silver watch in his vest pocket. He was carried to the house unconscious, and, as it was thought, in a dying condition, and for two days or more his death was hourly expected.

The attending bphysician said his recovery was impossible. The man's friends sat about his bedside expecting his death at every moment. A change finally came, the man rallied, and to the utter astonishment of his friends and the medical profession he has now recovered and is about attending to his work as usual.

A MAD DOG CAUSES EXCITEMENT.

Celina, O., June 29.—Last fall the vicinity of Fort Recovery was thrown into a state of excitement by John Uerman, a well-to-do farmer, dying with rabies from being bit by a mad dog.

To-day the little village was again aroused from the slumber it had again fallen into by a vicious Newfoundland dog coming down through one of its principal streets frothing at the mouth, snapping and biting everything within its reach. A little girl was attacked, the animal seizing her by the dress and tearing it from her at the waist, but not biting her.

A horse and a number of other dogs were bitten. About 75 dogs were killed by the marshal.

LEAPED TO DEATH.

A Drunken Woman Kills Herself and Child.

Boston, June 29.—Last evening Mrs. Susan Sewall, aged 22, threw her nine-months-old baby out of a four-story window and jumped herself, both being so badly injured that they died shortly afterward.

Mrs. Sewall was a drinking woman, and was thought to be partly insane.

Her husband, who was in the room at the time, was arrested, but is not thought to have anything to do with the woman's action.

THE WORK OF CONGRESS

Both Branches are Again Grinding.

Canadian Retaliation Bill Favorably Reported.

The House Provision Abolishing the Utah Commission Stricken Out of the Appropriation Bill.

Washington, June 29.—In the senate to-day Mr. Davis, rep., Minnesota, from the committee on foreign relations, reported favorably the Canadian retaliation bill introduced by himself the other day, entitled "a bill to secure certain reciprocal advantage to citizens, ports and vessels of the United States."

Mr. Hale presented an elaborate conference report on the diplomatic and consular bill which was agreed to.

The senate immediately after the conclusion of routine business, on motion of Mr. Allison, resumed consideration of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, the pending question being on the retention of the Utah commission.

The house provision abolishing the Utah commission was stricken out by a vote of 28 to 24.

Mr. Jones, of Arkansas, was the only democrat who voted to retain the commission, Messrs. Felton, California, and Carey and Warren, Idaho, republicans, voted for its abolition. Mr. Carey moved to reduce the salaries of the commissioners from $5,000 to $3,000 and at the suggestion of Mr. Sherman (who said the necessity for commissioners had now passed) he further reduced the amount to $2,000. This amendment was adopted. On motion of Mr. Carey it was also provided that commissioners hereafter appointed shall be residents of the territory of Utah.

In the House.

Washington, June 29.—In the house to-day Mr. Hatch submitted the agricultural appropriation bill and asked for a committe of conference, which was appointed.

Mr. Outhwaite's motion of yesterday that he house insist upon its disagreement to the senate amendment to the army appropriation bill, respecting payment for transportation of troops on bond aided railroads and ask for another conference, was agreed to. The next conference report was on the Indian appropriation bill. Mr. Rockwell, democrat, of New York, explained its provisions.

SILVER THE ISSUE

Action of the Two Leading Parties

Has Changed the Front of the Independents.

Gresham's Refusal to be a Candidate

Has Made Many New Combinations Possible.

What the Omahogs are Doing to Entertain the Third Party Delegates on the Fourth of July.

Omaha, Neb., June 29.—The local Independents who have for the past few days been carefully nursing a voluptuous hope that Walter Q. Gresham would express a willingness to accept the presidential nomination at the hands of the third party in case it was tendered had their hopes dashed to the ground by a published private letter announcing that he would not allow his name to be considered here.

The local leaders all expressed the belief that his name would have added more strength to their ticket than could be secured in any other way, and that he could unquestionably have the nomination if he would take it.

Although General G. B. Weaver of Iowa seemed to have the support of the local Independents up to the time of the return of the disgruntled silver men from the Chicago convention, and the announcement of their decision to come here and seek satisfaction at the hands of the Independents, the sentiment has changed and it is now openly asserted that Weaver is no longer in it.

The talk is all in favor of a nominee from a mining state, and Stewart of Nevada, and Adams of Colorado, have the call with Watson of Georgia for second place.

This, however, would destroy the pleasant alliterations that many of the new movement have been counting on. For awhile they counted on Donnelly and Davis—Ignatius of Minnesota, and J. G. of Texas. Then Polk and Powderly caught the popular fancy, but the death of one and the absolute refusal of the other to be considered for either first or second place necessitated the selection of another pair, and Weaver and Watson were set forth.

Now comes the silver situation with other favorites; but it has not presented a second place A to go with Adams, or an 'upper case" S to trot with Stewart.

Unless this deficiency can be remedied the nomination of either of the mountaineers would not give full and complete satisfaction.

Edward Bellamy has been assigned elegant quarters at the leading hotel. It is said he will make a speech at the opening of the convention which for uniqueness will startle even the rankest Alliance reformers. The executive committee have an inkling of what to expect, but maintain the greatest secrecy on the subject.

Chairman Strickler says that the Coliseum building will be in readiness for the guests by next Thursday evening. The arrangement of the chairs and the elevation on an inclined plane of all chairs outside of the space allotted for delegates in the center of the building is far superior to anything that has heretofore been made in the building.

A platform 100 feet long and 30 feet deep has been built on the west side of the hall for the chairman, secretaries, national committee and the newspaper men. The two press associations will have prominent places on either side of the speaker's stand. Next in position to these will be the editors of the prominent independent newspapers of the country.

After these are provided for, the representatives of the metropolitan press throughout the country will be assigned to places, and the remaining seats will be allotted to the editors of the Nebraska weekly newspapers. Strickler is very anxious to provide facilities for every working newspaper man who may be assigned for actual work, but he is not disposed to furnish seats on the press platform for newspaper men who come to listen to the proceedings and not for actual work.

The convention hall will have a seating capacity of about 7,000, with ample space in the aisles and passageways for 2,000 or 3,000 more in case of a crush.

Committee rooms have been arranged in the annex to the rear where also the telegraph companies will be provided with ample working space.

The feature over which the committee feels the most apprehension is that of sleeping accommodations. It is a certainty that the crowd, however large it may be, will find no difficulty getting enough to eat, but there is a scarcity of suitable places where the visitors may lay their heads at night. It has been frequently suggested that there are a number of school houses and vacant buildings in which cots could be placed and many thousands thus accommodated, but no step has been taken in that direction.

The lowest estimate made as to the number of those from outside who will be in the city during the convention is not less than 25,000, and as accommodations have been secured for but one-third of that number, the question of what will be done with the balance is naturally causing a great deal of uneasiness among those who are interested in properly caring for the visitors. Mr. Strickler this morning said:

"It is simply a question of whether or not we are going to allow these people to walk the streets at night. They are coming just as surely as the day dawns, and if there is no place for them to sleep they will have to sit. That's all there is to it. It is not a question of sentiment or speculation, but of plain, cold facts. Omaha has solicited the convention to come here and it is coming. It must be taken care of or Omaha must suffer for failing to provide for it."

M'CREDIE UNDER ARREST

The Ex-Bank Teller Gives Himself Up.

Bank Examiner Judson Says it is the Worst Case He Has Had in Twenty-five Years.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 29.—Ex-Teller McCredie, of the National Savings bank, surrendered himself last night on the charge of forgery preferred against him by a depositor. Bail was fixed at $5,000, which was furnished and McCredie was released.

Cashier Armstrong is still in jail, not having been able to secure bail.

Each day brings new revelations of fraud in the affairs of the bank and yesterday's discoveries were as great as those of any preceding day since the investigation began.

Chief Bank Examiner Judson has ceased to talk about the bank's condition and this adds to the conviction that it is more deplorable than has yet been estimated. He did say last night, however, that this was the worst case that he had any knowledge of during a banking experience of 25 years.

Workingmen Will Get Hot Water in Return.

Serious Situation Reported at Homestead.

Fifty Thousand Union Men to be Discharged.

July First Set for the Day of Action.

Nursed Into Manhood by a Suffering People the Now Full Grown Protected Infant Industry Uses Its Power to Crush the Laborer.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 29.—The prospects of a settlement of the wages difficulty at Carnegie's Homestead plant is growing smaller as the date of the expiration of the present scale approaches. The workers present a firm front and assert positively that they will not accept the reduction, and the firm is equally determined in the stand it takes.

It is stated upon what is considered authority from a reliable source that every union man in the employ of the Carnegie works at Homestead will be discharged on July 1. The present scale expires on June 30, and it is asserted the firm has determined to run the mill non-union thereafter.

The works were running in all departments to-day, but the undercurrent of feeling is very strong, and if non-union men are put to work it is feared there will be trouble. The firm realizes this and have taken every precaution to protect their plant. The property is entirely surrounded by a new high board fence, and large revolving electric search lights have been placed in the skylights of the mills so that objects over a mile distant are plainly visible on the darkest night.

Something of a sensation was caused today by the report that hot water will be thrown from the fire plugs in case the men should attempt to surround the mills, or enter between the high board walls. Dangerous port holes look out on this narrow passageway from the enclosure of the mills, and it was stated in case of war it will be made very hot for any one seeking to enter this passage.

The men claim that detectives are already on the grounds in considerable force, but this is denied by the firm. All strangers are regarded with distrust, and a number who have appeared in town have been hustled out again by the men in an unceremonious manner.

One man, who arrived to-day, stated that he had been engaged to go to work on July 1. A crowd of iron and steel workers took charge of him, and, placing him in a ferryboat, warned him to keep away. Altogether, the situation at Homestead is ominous, and the first of July is awaited with apprehensions.

The iron wage trouble presents nothing new. No signatures to the scale have been received by the Amalgamated association, and as but two days remain until the expiration of the scale, a general strike of the workmen in all but the sheet tin plate and wire rod mills seems inevitable. This would mean idleness for upwards of 50,000 men.

The National rolling mills of the National Tube Works Co., at McKeesport, and all of its employes have made an arrangement of mutual satisfaction to govern the operations at this point for the ensuing year; 2,000 men are interested.

A conference of the sheet and tin plate manufacturers with a committee of the Amalgamated association is now in session. It is thought an amicable settlement will be reached before adjournment and a strike in these departments averted.

D. B. Oliver, of the Oliver Steel Co., says there is no significance attached to his company signing the steel scale. It will have no effect on the iron situation.

The Amalgamated association has abolished the rule requiring two weeks' shutdown in July for repairs. This action is favorable to the manufacturers and it is expected will result in the immediate signing of the scale at Joliet, Irondale, St. Louis and Kansas City. It has had its effect here already in the signing of the steel scale by the Oliver Iron and Steel Co. The firm has not yet signed the iron scale, the point in contention being whether the puddlers shall receive $4.50 or $5 per ton for boiling iron. This is the first break in the ranks of the iron firms here. The action of the firm is a surprise, as D. B. Oliver was on the manufacturers' committee, and was strongly opposed to the amalgamated scale in conference.

DEADLY BULLETS.

They Fly Around Promiscuously Down in Texas.

Dennison, Tex., June 20.—E. W. Harris, editor of the Greenville Herald, while driving with his brother yesterday, met Dr. Y. K. Yowell, late of Greenville, on the road with Detective D. M. Davis.

On seeing the Harris brothers Dr. Yowell fired at them twice and then ran. E. W. Harris drew a careful sight along his Winchester at the flying figure and shot Dr. Yowell dead with a bullet through the heart. It is alleged that Yowell was ruining Harris' home.

SCRATCHED 3 YEARS

Suffered, Scratched and Bled. Doctors No Relief. Cured by Two Sets Cuticura Remedies.

I wish to express my thanks for the benefit I have derived from using CUTICURA REMEDIES. Nothing like them was ever manufactured. For 3 years have I suffered with a sore head. I would break out all over my head with pimples which would form a watery matter, and I would have to scratch until I would bleed. After doctoring with two doctors for three years, more or less, I finally made up my mind to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES with result entirely satisfactory to me. After using two sets of CUTICURA REMEDIES, I am entirely cured. I have recommended your remedies to several persons, and they all tell me they are No. 1. Our druggist is doing a nice business in CUTICURA REMEDIES, since my cure. I have given him the privilege of using my name as proof of their efficiency. I enclose my portrait.

A. F. GRAMM,
Photographer, Mt. Horeb, Wis.

My wife has been troubled with the salt rheum for four years. During this time doctors of Wisconsin, Illinois, and the most eminent doctors of Chicago, failed to give relief. I bought the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and she used only one box of CUTICURA, CUTICURA SOAP, and half a bottle of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and these have cured my wife completely.

C. M. STONE, 141 State St., Chicago, Ill.

EX-PRESIDENT HAYES

Talks to the Guests of the Loyal Legion.

America the Glorious Child of Destiny.

A Patriotic Reply to Matthew Arnold's Criticism on the United States.

Cleveland, June 20.—The one banquet of the year of the Companions of the Loyal Legion to which ladies are invited occurred at the Hollenden last evening.

One hundred and fifty guests sat at the tastefully arranged tables, and fully one-third of them were ladies.

All the guests joined in the chorus of "John Brown's Body," and sang it with a will. Ex-President R. B. Hayes, the grand commander of the Loyal Legion, was the honored guest of the evening, and he presided and acted as toastmaster. Time deals lightly with General Hayes, and he is an ideal man to preside on an occasion such as that of last evening. There were also present a number of ladies and gentlemen from different parts of the state. After the divine blessing had been invoked by Rev. Dr. John Mitchell, the dinner was served. The menu was a superb one and was heartily enjoyed.

It was almost 11 o'clock when the coffee had been served, and General Hayes, with the jewels of the legion suspended from a crimson ribbon about his neck, arose and rapped for order.

The responses to toasts that followed were of a high order of excellence, and were heartily received. In opening Gen. Hayes said: "The musicians have given us a good start. If there is anything that can make a man speak cheerfully and warmly it is such a song as 'Marching Through Georgia.' Matthew Arnold has said that America is uninteresting. We do not think so. America is the most interesting country in the world. She is the child of destiny and of opportunity. What of her future? We do not need to look to the future. Look at our present. Take wealth as her standard and where stands America? After one of the greatest struggles of modern times she is prepared to pay off the debt of the war. It could all be paid in a year. In Europe the question is what to do with the deficit. Here our trouble always is the surplus. If Mr. Arnold was looking for a museum of antiquities, America is not as rich in these as Egypt or Judea. Let us judge America from another European standpoint—our army. We have no standing army to impoverish the nation. We have, however, 10,000,000 soldiers ready to avenge any insult. (Applause.) To recruit our army we have thousands of school houses, over each of which floats the American flag. (Applause.) To-day there is no nation on the earth so strong that it would care to knock a chip off our shoulder.

"Another test of greatness abroad is rank. We have none of it. Our soldier president went around the globe, and when he returned every American knew that he did not meet a man or woman while abroad that he did not outrank. (Prolonged applause.) Why do I speak of all this in this presence? Because we did our part in helping the late war accomplish what those who waged it intended it should accomplish. It was settled that every stare and foot of land belonged to one united flag. When the war began the attitude of capital to labor was slavery. It was forever settled that man cannot hold property in man. Their idea was a flag for each state. Our idea was one flag—the flag of Washington and Lincoln—to wave over a continental republic and a united people. (Applause.) This was accomplished. The vanquished confederates gained more in our victory than any people ever gained in any war. They gained freedom for the slave, and union under the flag. We captured, and it is now ours, the military powers and all of the confederacy. Europe understands that this united nation is more than a match for any country in Europe, with the union and confederate soldiers fighting under one flag." (Applause.) General Hayes closed with a brilliant peroration, and a glowing poetical tribute to the immortal Lincoln, who, he said, was too often forgotten during the joyous reunions of old soldiers.

BORN IN A PRISON.

Mrs. Montagu Becomes the Mother of Another Child.

London, June 29.—Mrs. Anne Margaret Montagu, who is serving a sentence for one year for the manslaughter of her infant daughter, Mary Helen Montagu, has been delivered of a son in prison. This makes eight sons, all of them living, born to Mrs. Montagu. Their only daughter was the little one done to death by Mrs. Montagu's cruelty. Mrs. Montagu has had nearly an average of one child a year since her marriage in 1880. The boys are all fine little fellows, but some of them also have been most cruelly treated by the mother, who has the most severe ideas of parental discipline.

SUIT FOR LIBEL.

Prohibitionists Get Into Court to Settle Their Disputes.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 29.—Capt. Eli F. Ritter, a prominent member of the prohibition party, yesterday brought suit against Leonard Hinkle, formerly chairman of the Marion county prohibition committee, demanding $10,000 for libel. Hinkle, it is alleged, caused to be printed and distributed circulars that stated that Ritter was the most unprincipled of men and one of the greatest scoundrels that he had ever had any business dealings with.

Kansas City Captures a Game at the Park.

The Visitors Hits Came When They Counted.

Games Played in Other Cities—Amateur Notes—General Sporting Gossip.

Interest in the McAuliffe-Goddard fight scheduled for Thursday night in San Francisco, is on the increase. Though betting thus far has not been heavy, the odds are 10 to 8 on McAuliffe, and the Australian's backers claim they should be greater, considering the disparity between the two men in height, weight and reach.

If McAuliffe were as skillful as Peter Jackson, he ought, with his long reach, to escape without a scratch, and leisurely jab Goddard.

His friends say he has improved in quickness and skill, and they predict an easy victory for him.

If Goddard wins, he declares he will challenge Peter Jackson. He claims he had Peter whipped in Sydney at the end of eight rounds, and that if the contest had been allowed to go on, he could have knocked out the dusky gladiator.

New Haven, Conn., June 29.—Yale and Harvard played an exciting game here yesterday. It was the second of the series and the closing intercollegiate championship match of the season. Contrary to expectations Yale batted Highlands freely. On the other hand Harvard was unable to secure more than five straggling singles off Bowers. Fielding honors were about equal though Yale's misplays were the most costly. Seven thousand spectators witnessed the truggle which had every semblance of a great intercollegiate contest with its accompaniment of flying streamers and volleys of cheers. Yale was weakened by the injury of Carter and the absence of Rustin, while Harvard was compelled to play a substitute catcher in place of Mason, who was called home by the death of his father.

The result of the game leaves the championship undecided. Yale tried to arrange for a game on neutral grounds July 4, but Harvard refused and, as both colleges have closed the championship will remain unsettled. The Yale alumni are celebrating on a grand scale. Score:

DRS. FRANCE AND OTTMAN, of New York, the well known and successful Specialists in Chronic Diseases and Diseases of the Eye and Ear, on account of their large practice in Ohio, have established the FRANCE MEDICAL INSTITUTE, where all forms of Chronic, Nervous and Private Diseases will be successfully treated on the most Scientific principles. They are ably assisted by a full corps of eminent Physicians and Surgeons, each one being a well known specialist in his profession

CANCER positively cured without pain or use of the knife, by a new method.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES.—DR. FRANCE, after years of experience, has discovered the greatest cure known for all diseases peculiar to the sex. Female diseases positively cured by the new remedy, OLIVE BLOSSOM. The cure is effected by home treatment. Entirely harmless and easily applied. Consultation Free and Strictly Confidential. Correspondence promptly answered.

YOUNG MEN—Who have become victims of solitary vice, that dreadful and destructive habit, which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of exalted talent and brilliant intellect, may call with confidence.

DRS. FRANCE AND UTTMAN, after years of experience, have discovered the greatest cure known for weakness in the back and limbs, involuntary discharges, impotency, general debility, nervousness, languor, confusion of ideas, palpitation of the heart, timidity, trembling, dimness of sight, or giddiness, diseases of the head, throat, nose, or skin, affections of the liver, lungs, stomach, or bowels—those terrible disorders arising from the solitary vice of youth—and secret practices, blighting their most radiant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage impossible. Take one candid thought before it is too late. A week or month may place your case beyond the reach of hope. Our method of treatment will speedily and permanently cure the most obstinate case, and absolutely restore perfect manhood.

TO MIDDLE-AGED MEN.—There are many from the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight burning or smarting sensation, weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examination of the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will be found, or the color will be a thin or milkish hue. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is a second stage of seminal weakness. We will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—We have a special department, thoroughly organized, and devoted exclusively to the treatment of diseases of women. Every case consulting our specialists, whether by letter or in person, is given the most careful and considerate attention. Important cases (and we get few which have not baffled the skill of all the home physicians) have the benefit of a full council of skilled specialists. In treatment of diseases peculiar to females, success has been marked, over two-thirds of our patients being ladies, old, young, married, single, or widow. Our method is entirely free from objectionable features of the general practitioner, namely, "Local treatment." We seldom find it necessary. We prepare remedies, constitutional and local, as the case demands, and instruct ladies how to treat themselves.

MARRIAGE.—Married persons, or young men contemplating marriage, aware of physical weakness, loss of procreative powers, impotency, or any other disqualification, speedily restored.

PRIVATE DISEASES.—Blood Poison, Venereal Taint, Gleet, Stricture, Seminal Emissions, Loss of Sexual Power, Weakness of Sexual Organs, Want of Desire in Male or Female, whether from imprudent habits of youth or sexual habits of mature years, or any cause that debilitates the sexual functions, speedily and permanently cured. Consultation free and strictly confidential. Absolute cures guaranteed. Medicines sent free from observation to all parts of the United States.

EPILEPSY, OR FITS—Positively cured by a new and never-failing method. Testimonials furnished.

FREE EXAMINATION OF THE URINE.—Each person applying for medical treatment should send or bring from 2 to 4 ounces of urine (that passed first in the morning preferred), which will receive a careful chemical and microscopical examination, and if requested a written analysis will be given.

Persons ruined in health by unlearned pretenders, who keep trifling with them month after month, giving poisonous and injurious compounds, should apply immediately. Delays are dangerous.

WONDERFUL CURES Perfected in old cases which have been neglected or unskillfully treated. No experiments or failures. Parties treated by mail or express, but where possible, personal consultation is preferred. Curable cases guaranteed. No risks incurred.

"In spite of my protest the Royal Baking Powder Co. continues to use a recommendation of Royal Baking Powder given by me several years ago."

"Since then my views and practice with regard to the powder manufactured by this Company have undergone a radical change. I give decided preference to a pure cream-of-tartar-and-soda mixture. For this reason Cleveland's Baking Powder is in steady use in my kitchen."

Miss Charlotte King, a well-known and respected lady, passed from this life to the great beyond this morning at 3 o'clock, after an illness of several weeks' duration. The deceased was a member of Trinity church and possessed the qualities of a true Christian woman, one who will be missed in the home circle as well as by innumerable friends. She has not been confined to her bed by illness, until this recent spell, for 39 years, and was a remarkable and charitable woman both in deed and thought. The funeral will occur to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. The burial will be private.

NOW THE PAINTERS

The Saturday half holiday is gaining ground. Grisswold; warden, Lady S. C. Nicholas; sentinel, Lady Geo. Flint; prelate, Geo. Fish; priest, Samuel Emery; delegate, F. A. Leiter; alternate, Lady Nellie Bacon; trustee, E. J. Tippett.

THE WOODWORKERS'

Benefit a Huge Success—The Pastime Loaded.

The excursion on the Pastime last evening, given by the Woodworkers' union for the benefit of the widow Duvendack, was deservedly successful. Over fifteen hundred tickets were sold by the woodworkers themselves, and a good many procured tickets at the dock office. Considering the fact that a large number of tickets had been sold by the cyclers for the excursion on the City of Toledo, the boys feel pretty well pleased with the results. Had there been no other excursion last night, the Pastime could not have accommodated the crowd. About $250 were netted by the woodworkers. The Pastime managers state that the crowd was the most orderly and satisfactory of any in their experience.

HE ACCEPTS THE CALL

And Will Deliver an Address on Temperance.

The Bee printed a request last evening signed by a number of influential citizens, requesting Mr. C. W. Selner to deliver a temperance address at his convenience, Mr. Selner willingly consents, and has made the following response:

My Friends:—I have read your invitation asking me to deliver a temperance lecture in Toledo. I thank you one and all and hope that good may be done for the great cause you love so well.

Yours truly,
CHAS. W. SELNER.

IN LABOR CIRCLES.

Reports of Labor Day Committees the Only Business.

It has been suggested that the fixing of the Labor day parade for the forenoon will bar the unions, such as printers, barbers, etc., whose members have been in the habit of working half the day, from taking part in the parade. These unions, however, will probably ask their employers for a whole holiday, and expect to participate in the demonstration.

The Clerks' Mutual Protective union, No. 2151, held a good meeting last night, the principal subject of discussion being the moonlight excursion, which they propose giving some time next month. "Everything is very quiet with us," remarked one of the members this morning. "We have reached the very satisfactory state of having about everything we want, and our order is in a flourishing condition." The next meeting will be Tuesday evening, July 12, when officers for the next term will be nominated.

The painters held their weekly meeting at Clarke's hall last night. A good many of the members took in the woodworkers' excursion, but the attendance was fair. Reports were received from standing and special committees, and they were most satisfactory. The painters will all be in line on Labor day.

International Association of Machinists hold their weekly meeting at Turley's hall this evening.

Nomination of officers occurs at the meeting of Joan of Arc assembly, next Friday evening, and arrangements furthered for the moonlight excursion which they will give on the Pastime, Monday evening, July 18.

THE CYCLING CLUB.

Have a Jolly Moonlight Excursion to the Lake.

When the members of the Toledo Cycling club undertake to entertain their friends they do so with so much vim and dash that the occasion is made most refreshing. Last evening was not an exception to the rule, and the large crowd which thronged the decks of the City of Toledo on this pleasant excursion manifested perfect enjoyment and content. The entertainment committee, consisting of Messrs. J. H. Barr, R. B. Orvis, C. L. Lewis, S. V. Thomas, A. W. Kirk and H. C. Brigham, certainly deserve credit for the arrangement of the excellent program. The glee club, which comprises Messrs. D. S. Acklin, J. Austin, jr., H. T. Buckwell, G. P. Brailey, A. Burdick, L. G. Colton, W. B. Colton, W. C. Clark, G. L. Chapman, J. L. Draper, H. Hahn, F. H. Irons, Geo. Jones, H. Leibius, S. M. Larin, B. Love, C. L. Lewis, H. F. Middaugh, A. M. Millan, E. Mettler, J. Murphy, E. C. Neidlinger, R. B. Orvis, C. Werful and C. Locke sang several selections in excellent style and were heartily applauded. The People's theater orchestra was a feature of the program, and the mandolin duets with guitar accompaniment, by Messrs. Collinwood, Thomas, Snell and Cole, deserve special mention.

A large number of young people did not exactly "dance to the light of the moon," but tripped the light fantastic to the merry music furnished by the People's theater orchestra. The floor committee, consisting of Messrs. E. S. Ludlow, F. S. Terry, R. G. Nelson and J. S. Draper, performed their duties in their usual graceful manner. The cyclers are to be congratulated upon the success of the pleasant affair.

FOURTH OF JULY EXCURSIONS VIA PENNSYLVANIA LINES.

The rate from any ticket station on the Pennsylvania lines to any other station on those lines within two hundred miles thereof will be one fare for the round trip, July 2, 3 and 4. Tickets will be good to return until July 5, inclusive. No excursion tickets sold to adults for less than 25 cents, nor to children for less than 25 cents.

OH TIP! OH TIP!

The Alleged Son of King Cetewayo,

Was the Accomplice of the Burglars

Who Robbed a Number of Toledo Residences Recently—One of the Slickest Gangs in the Country—Bound Over—Bail Fixed at $6,400.

It has been generally believed that the burglars who worked Toledo during the past few weeks were among the slickest in the country, but no one had an idea that they were really as clever as to-day's developments prove them to be.

It is hard to believe, but nevertheless true, that Tip-o-Tip, the African who has been in town for some weeks representing himself to be the youngest son of the late Cetewayo, king of Zululand, is the accomplice of the burglars who robbed the residences of Chas. Van Hoesen, Jacob Mandler, J. W. Hahn and T. J. Brown.

Walter Rice, who with Henry Word was arrested in the postoffice several days ago by Detective Carew, was Tip-o-Tip's secretary, or at least his guardian, who, under the pretense of having instructions from some church missionary society, introduced Tip-o-Tip to the ministers or others with whom they desired to do business.

Rice is a fine looking young man and a brilliant talker. He would impress anyone. The other partner, Wood, does not look so smart and he was kept in the background to do the dirty work that required no brains.

Tip-o-Tip, whose mother by the way is a Milwaukee washwoman, would reach the town first. He would call on the newspapers and exhibit his credentials and they were apparently good ones, and in consequence he would always get a good notice, as the advent of a Zulu prince in a community is no mean bit of news.

Tip's newspaper notoriety would make him known all over the city and the rest of his work was easy enough.

They probably worked the other cities where Tip has been the same as they did Toledo.

Rice, the alleged missionary agent, took Tip to Van Loo's photograph studio and made arrangements to have his pictures taken. Some dozen poses were struck off and those who have seen them will say that they are marvels of posing and natural grace.

Tip would go about the city during the day selling his photographs, sizing up residences and pumping the occupants. He was always very anxious to enquire where the "richest society," as he called it, resided.

The inmates of the house generally purchased a photograph from him and talked considerably, as Tip was an amusing conversationalist and something of an odd character.

While the slick African played the innocent moke, he was sizing up the house, walking around looking at the valuables and fixing the general lay of things in his mind.

Everybody thought his habit of examining everything was the natural result of his savage delight in viewing new things in a civilized country. Tip was a good actor. He laughed in his sleeve all the time, and repeated with Shakespeare, "What fools we mortals be."

The knowledge Tip would gather during the day he would impart to the brother of the missionary society, Rice, and his good friend Wood, and at night the house would be cracked.

It is a strange case all around, and so cleverly did they work things that there was only one chance in a thousand of their being caught. Just how Detective Carew caught on to that one chance no one will likely ever know. It was a job of which he can feel proud.

The two men arrested were arraigned in police court yesterday afternoon. They are Walter Rice and Henry Wood. No one would dream of taking them for burglars. Rice is a fine looking young, clear, clean face, bright intellectual eyes and dark hair that waves carelessly in a poetic curl over his brow. He wore a light suit of a fashionable cut, russett shoes, a white bow tie and a snowy shirt bosom. Wood cannot come up to his partner in looks, but he is a jim dandy just the same.

Prosecutor Wheeler read the charges, which in substance stated that they had taken $500 worth of valuables from the Van Hoesen residence, $70 from Jacob Mandler's, $200 from J. W. Hahn's and $25 from T. J. Brown's, and asked them how they wished to plead.

Rice straightened himself up and said:

"Gentlemen, I am not prepared to proceed in this case. I have not had an opportunity to see counsel, and until I have done so, I would desire that this preliminary examination be continued, say one week."

The court explained to him that he had had ample time to speak for counsel during the past few days he had been in confinment.

"I beg your pardon, I have not," said Rice. "It has been with difficulty that I have secured a drink of water or a little fresh air, let alone seeing counsel. No one has offered to see an attorney for me. I am much displeased with the manner in which I have been treated. I want you gentlemen to understand that I will not be imposed upon. You must understand that, although I am charged with this thing, I am still innocent until these charges are proven."

The court again explained to him that if he had expressed a wish to see counsel it would have been granted.

"I did not understand the situation then. I am of the opinion that this is a queer proceeding. You should at least give us an opportunity to defend ourselves, but if you will not, why I will waive examination."

Both men were bound over to the common pleas court on the charges of burglary and grand larceny. Bail was fixed at $800 in each case, making $6,400 in all.

Tip-o-Tip skipped out suddenly about the time of the arrest, going to Cincinnati, from which place he said he was going to Africa to see his folks. Next winter, he said, he was going to enter the Howard university at Washington.

Tip played his part well. He always appeared happy, smiling, talkative and innocent. He could tell stories of life in Zululand by the yard and they were all interesting. He had undoubtedly made a study of the thing.

There have been burglars and their ways have been the ways of darkness, but an original, highly-colored combination of this kind has never been discovered outside of the realms of romance.

It only goes to prove that truth is stranger than fiction.

Rice and Wood were taken to the jail last night. On searching them they found a knife concealed in Rice's shoe.

THEY ARE AT IT AGAIN

The Street Railway Companies Lock Horns

In Another Fray—The Robisons Want to Help With the Repairs and the Consolidated Says Too Many Cooks Spoil the Broth.

There is going to be trouble before the much talked of reconstruction of the street railway tracks is completed.

Immediately upon the dissolution of the injunction restricting the Consolidated from going ahead with the work, as a gang of men began tearing up the tracks in Summit street, working day and night.

Everything was apparently moving alon as smoothly as possibly could be expected, but those who have watched this street railway fight knew that the calm only preceded a storm. The storm is on, and it's a hot one.

At 10 o'clock this morning the Robisons filed a petition in common pleas court against the Consolidated for an injunction.

The petition states that the Robisons want to take hold and help the project along by putting a gang of men to work, and help complete the repairs in a hurry and they ask that the Consolidated be restrained from interfering with their men.

The points in the case were submitted by both sides and at the conclusion Judge Pugsley refused to grant the order, holding that no evidence had been introduced showing that the Consolidated was acting in bad faith and not pushing the work as rapidly as possible.

Ohio in the Campaign.

Political conditions in Ohio are encouraging to the democratic party. There are no disappointments of convention that will deter a democrat from working and voting for Cleveland and Stevenson. Perhaps the enthusiastic republican will say the same of his party, but facts will not bear out such assertion. What is known as the Foraker element has no love for the administration, and no hope of reward if the administration succeeds. What is true of Toledo is true of the whole state. There are too many disappointed office applicants here who can not hope to succeed Brown, Austin and Waldorf, and who are under no obligations to help keep them in office another four years. The jumping jack office holders in Ohio are too willing to hit Foraker republicans with stuffed clubs whenever John Sherman or Charley Foster pulls the string. That seems to be what they are here for, and civil service is flung to the dogs when the administration needs political help. The very nature of existing conditions makes the republican factions antipodal and extremely unassimilating. They can't get together and will not try very hard to do so.

There is nothing to divide the democrats, and there is no reason why the full party vote will not be polled in November. There are no factions or jealousies at home, no ambitions to satisfy or defeat. The party is united and harmonious, and the candidate for president is popular with the masses. There is not another leader of democracy so popular with the democrats of Ohio as Mr. Cleveland. This is true because they are earnest tariff reformers, and because they admire his courage. You always know where to find him. It would seem paradoxical to say that Cleveland is largely the popular candidate of Ohio democrats when the representatives of the party in national convention gave him considerably less than half the delegate support. This is easily accounted for. Ohio never had an abler delegation in national convention. It was largely composed of earnest, thinking democrats who conscientiously voted as they believed was for the best interests of the democratic party. It was chiefly a matter of individual preference. It was not a matter of re-nomination, which a man deserved by precedent. It was a free for all, and each delegate who was uninstructed had the party privilege and right to vote as he pleased. But after choice was made the delegation was solid for Cleveland, and such unanimity represents the sentiment of the Ohio democracy. The party is solid for Grover Cleveland.

Among the farmers of Ohio this kindly feeling for Mr. Cleveland is almost universal. He is exceptionally strong in the rural districts, and in the townships his vote will be largely increased over 1888.

Upon the vital issue of the campaign the democrats of Ohio are as a unit. They favor tariff for revenue only. They can not be frightened by the stuff and nonsense of republicans that has been dinned into their ears the past fifteen years. They are in favor of lower taxes and lightened burdens and reduced farm mortgages. They know that if there is any industrial complaint the republican party, which has controlled legislation thirty years—almost a generation, is to blame. They know there should be a change, and they are ready to help bring about a change.

Nor is it a difficult task to change the politics of this state. Ohio is not so reliably republican that the administration can hope to carry it with a rush without hard work. It is good fighting ground, good democratic fighting ground. Twice within sixteen years the republican majority in national elections in Ohio was less than ten thousand, and three times since 1880 the democrats have carried the state. Gov. Campbell was right when he said, "Keep your eye on Ohio in November." The democrats will work hard to place Ohio's electoral vote in the democratic column.

The Two Taylors.

Ohio will not lose sight of the local campaign in the greater excitement of the national contest. There are issues at home which require attention and questions of importance for settlement at the polls. The democratic state platform arraigns the present administration for the extravagance of its legislature, and every count of the indictment is true, as will be proven during the campaign. The republican candidate for Secretary of State represents his party in this campaign. He must personally stand for the extravagance of the legislature, as he is not only a member of that body but is chairman of the finance committee, and it is of record that he made no protest in the house against the squandering of public money. His name is Taylor, his home is in Champaign county.

The democratic candidate for the same office is also named Taylor. He lives in Columbus. He is well informed in state affairs and has had large experience with men and measures. He is personally familiar with the necessities of all the counties and is acquainted with the people of all sections. He stands for good government in this campaign, and is the representative of an economical public policy. Our Taylor will have the best argument, and we think our Taylor will be elected.

Turned Down the Administration.

The republicans of Indiana had a lively convention this week. The administration, which of itself is a Hoosier affair, opposed the renomination of Gov. Chase. Several favorites were brought out and retired in succession and Chase was easily the winner when the convention got to work. The convention exposed another republican tender spot, and in the home state of candidate Harrison. The effort to defeat Chase will react on the president and cost him many votes. All political signs point to an old-time democratic majority in Indiana.

The Inter-Ocean grows optimistic in praise of the republican party and says less money was used for corruption purposes in 1888 than in 1884. Perhaps the I. O. is on the inside and knows how much was spent each year by the republican committee, but it is certain that the tracks were covered less effectively in 1888. It is a matter of public notoriety that a Philadelphia merchant was given a cabinet office as a reward for paying more than $100,000 to Chairman Quay, and the "fat frying" of the protected classes to debauch Indiana and other states is still too fresh in memory to be lightly passed over by the faithful recorder of public events. There never was a more corrupt national campaign than the republican side of 1888. Perhaps, by condoning that offense, the Inter Ocean is paving the way for worse debauchery in 1892.

Judge Gresham objects to being the candidate of the Aliance upon two counts: he does not approve the subtreasury scheme, and is too poor to make the campaign. The former is not serious, as it is evident the party cares more for the candidate than the idea, and if he requests, the subtreasury measure will be eliminated from the platform of principles. The other objection is creditable to Judge Gresham—too poor to make the campaign. Mr. Gresham has long been in public life, and his record is above reproach. He has been faithful and honest in a party of grasping office-holders. His poverty is a jewel in his favor. There are too few Gresham office-holders in the United States.

Ten years ago Postmaster General James established a fast mail service between Boston and New York and the South. The arrangement is greatly advantageous to trade and satisfactory at both ends. Upon the advice of Postmaster General Wanamaker the senate refuses to make an appropriation to continue this service. Thus does the sectional hatred of the administration strike a business blow at the progressive south.

It is generally conceded that Kent Hamilton will be the republican candidate for congress, though Gov. Ashley and Representative Griffin are quietly pulling for the prize. The democrats can defeat either Griffin or Ashley and give Hamilton a lively chase. In any event the campaign will be interesting in the Ninth district.

The Force bill is an issue of the campaign second only in importance to the tariff question. The American people must this year decide the sectional question. It ought to be decided in favor of a whole country, a progressive country in all its parts, with the mailed hand removed from every state for all time to come.

The resolution of Senator Hale, calling for comparisons between protection and revenue periods will bring out the best arguments on both sides. In the debate in the senate Carlisle, Vest, Voorhees and Morgan will over-match the republican speakers for protection.

There are one hundred trusts in this country created by the protective tariff, each of which has restricted manufacture and increased prices. The laborer and the consumer are both struck by the trusts which the McKinley law fosters.

Original Harrisonian newspapers are promoting republican harmony by giving Clarkson a kick as he leave the chairmanship of the republican committee.

The United German Democracy of New York held a large ratification meeting on Monday night. The speeches were strong for Cleveland and Stevenson.

The Australian ballot law in Indiana will prevent a repetition of the blocks-of-five scheme of the republican party.

NEW BANKING BILL.

Congressman Harter Comes to the Front With a New Measure.

Washington, June 29.—Mr. Harter came to the front yesterday with another bank bill. It removes the tax on wildcat money, reduces the tax on national banks to issue notes equal to their bonded security, instead of limiting them to 90 per cent., as under the present law. Mr. Harter says there can't be any wildcat currency even if the state banks are permitted to circulate their notes. There are gold and silver national banks and treasury notes in circulation. State banks would be compelled to secure their circulation, for if they didn't people would not accept them, the notes not being a legal tender. If the notes were good they would go, if bad they wouldn't go. Mr. Harter says the money thus issued would enter into the general currency of the country or be rejected automatically. He estimates that his bill will increase the circulating medium of the country $18,000,000 by the provision which allows national banks to issue notes to the face value of their government bonds.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Editors who are continually prating about the new south, the war being over, and the death of sectionalism are the first to call attention to the absence of a soldier on the democratic ticket. Perhaps the day will come when a man will be a man though he has never been in war.—Chicago Mail (Dem.)

The president's difficulty in filling the office of secretary of state is not altogether surprising. It is a most distinguished position, worthy of aspiration of the greatest statesman in the land; but recent experience has shown that great statesmen do not find it a comfortable position under Mr. Harrison.—Philadelphia Times (Ind.)

The republican managers will make a mistake if they underrate the strength of the democratic candidate, Mr. Cleveland has a wonderful hold on public confidence. He is not popular with the "boys," but he is altogether solid with the business men and the men who place patriotism above politics.—Boston Budget (Ind.)

The democratic party can do more foolish things in a given time than any other party on the face of the earth. Their state bank business is the latest piece of thick-skullism, and which, if carried out, would give this country such a panic it wouldn't make any difference if we never had free trade, protection or anything else.—Buffalo News (Rep.)

That Mr. Cleveland's trusted lieutenants at Chicago did the best, with his consent, to obscure the tariff issue no one doubts. To the honest believers in the free trade principle it would seem that this action should bring a certain chill and an incipient distrust of their idol. But perhaps their devotion, like the passion of love, as painted by the romancers, knows not the control of reason.—Boston Journal (Rep.)

The hearty support which the delegation from the Empire state gave to Stevenson is an auspicious token and presages general acquiescence among the democracy in the work of the convention. The "split" in the democratic party is a very small matter after all, as compared with the yawning chasm which separates the administration republicans from the anti-Harrison wing of the party.—Kansas City Star (Ind.)

The great issue to be decided by the majority, therefore, has nothing to do with Mr. Harrison or Mr. Cleveland as individuals, but with the political ideas which they represent. If you want a rich class and a poor class, if you want a moneyed aristocracy at one end and a horde of stolid laborers at the other end you will support the republican ticket. If you want fair play all round, economy at the white house and in the halls of congress and general prosperity everywhere, then you want what we believe the democrats as a party are trying to attain.—New York Herald (Dem.)

THE REPUBLICAN CLUBS

Of the State of New York at Rochester.

They Invite the Women to Help Them Battle,

In Order That the Protected Monster May Grow Fatter While They Worry Out a Meagre Living.

Rochester, N. Y., June 29.—A few minutes after 10 o'clock this morning when President McAlpine and Secretary Hedges came into the convention hall there were not 50 delegates to the state republican league convention in their seats.

The executive committee of the league has decided to give Secretary Job E. Hedges the $3,000 salary which he asked as a condition of continuing in office. He will be re-elected.

President McAlpine has decided to accept a re-election also.

The platform adopted by the league of republican clubs to-day congratulates the lovers of good government on the bright prospects of a continuation of the national administration as now conducted by President Harrison.

It also congratulates the citizens of this state on an aroused public sentiment which assures the people of a speedy return to a fair and honest administration of public affairs in this commonwealth.

After endorsing the national republican platform, the platform goes on to say that in the organization of the American college republican league the young republicans in the colleges and universities of the nation have performed an act which merits and receives our heartiest commendation and congratulations, and furthermore that we cordially welcome them to an active participation in the affairs of the state.

"Recognizing, as we do, the fact that a large number of women are employed in the factories of this country, which are shielded by a protective tariff from ruinous competition, and recognizing the great influence which women exert upon moral and political questions, therefore be it

"Resolved, That we urge the hearty co-operation of all women in the great conflict in which we are now engaged for the protection of our homes and firesides, and to this end we invite their assistance.

Congressman Burrows.

Rochester, N. Y., June 29.—Hon. J. C. Burrows, of Michigan, addressed a republican mass meeting here last night. In his speech Mr. Burrows said:

"I am glad to be with you to endorse the administration of Benjamin Harrison and the action of the Minneapolis convention in renominating him for the presidency of the United States.

"His administration will be above criticism. I hazard nothing in saying that no administration in modern times has been superior to his, and his conduct of foreign and domestic affairs has given to the nation a standing of which every American may feel justly proud.

"His private life is a passport to public confidence, and his administration of public affairs is proof against unjust criticism.

"During his presidency the republican party has revised the tariff on the lines of protection, built up new industries, given increased employment to labor, continued the work of rebuilding our navy, increased our merchant marine, extended our foreign mail service, made frugal provisions for the veterans of the war and maintained the dignity of the flag in every quarter of the globe.

"Such a policy is worthy of commendation and ought to be continued."

Mr. Burrows then discussed the tariff at length, and concluded by saying:

"This is a campaign of measures, not men—a great business question. There can be no mistaking the issues and I have an abiding faith in the sober judgment and good sense of the American people that they will continue a policy which is American and which if maintained will continue our industrial development and unexampled progress.

"I have an abiding faith that under the banner of protection and reciprocity the republican party will march to a triumphant victory in November next."

An amendment to the platform was adopted on motion of Mr. Cleary, of the Irish republican club of Cortland, that it is the sense of this convention that it is the duty of every American citizen to make the demand for home manufactured articles. Mr. Cleary said, in advocating his amendment, that he would not buy a pair of French calf shoes for 10 cents.

The negro delegates to the convention have issued a call for a state convention of colored republicans in Brooklyn, August 18.

Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, of the Woman's republican association of the United States, was introduced and delivered a stirring address.

THE BATTLE IS NOW ON

For the Superintendency of the Employment Bureau,

And Will be a Fight to a Finish, Says the Present Incumbent, Mr. Murphy.

The long expected fight for supremacy at the free employment office opened with a civil war of words this morning, when on his return from Columbus, armed with the precious document, mention of which is made elsewhere in the Bee, Mr. Smith wended his way toward the goal of his ambition, and presenting his commission to Mr. Murphy, coolly requested him to vamoose.

Mr. Murphy gave the would-be superintendent his own commission, asking him to take special notice of the fact that the time of his appointment does not expire until March, 1893, and informed him that when said time shall have elapsed, he will leave the office, and not before.

"There have been charges preferred against me, at Columbus," said Mr. Murphy to a Bee, "that must be proved or retracted before I leave this office. I have performed my duties faithfully, and I do not propose resigning until all slanderous reports that have been circulated by malicious office-seekers shall have been proved false. I am staying here on advice of my friends. My appointment has not expired, and I cannot be legally removed. If my democratic friends give me the promised assistance I shall superintend the free employment bureau until March, 1893."

ANOTHER CHAPTER

In the Street Railroad Controversy.

The Consolidated Sues Various Parties for Damages Growing Out of an Injunction Suit.

Another suit was filed in common pleas court to-day, growing out of the controversy between the two street railway companies.

This time it is the Consolidated seeking redress in the shape of $1,000 damages from Dennis Coghlin, David Robison, jr., Jame J. Robison and William F. Robison, as defendants.

The suit results from the injunction obtained by Dennis Coghlin as a taxpayer, restricting the Consolidated from erecting, constructin gand maintaining or using for street railway purposes wires and poles in and along Summit street from Adams to Perry.

The petition alleges that the plaintiff in the injunction suit gave a bond, signed by David Robison, James Robison and William Robison as sureties, in the sum of $1,000 to indemnify the defendants against loss entailed by the enforcement of the injunction.

It further says that the injunction was dissolved, and that the defendant was damaged in the sum of $1,000.

PASSION PLAY.

It Will Be Presented to the World's Fair Visitors.

Chicago, June 29.—A strong syndicate representing men of influence and money, in both Austria and the United States, has been busily engaged for the last few weeks perfecting the preliminary plans for a dramatic enterprise which, if successful, will surpass anything in the line of dramatic production that has ever been attempted not only in Chicago, but in all the United States as well.

The object of the syndicate is to produce in Chicago during the world's fair the Passion Play exactly in the manner that it has been enacted by the people of Ober-Ammergau, Bavaria, for centuries at intervals of ten years.

Yesterday the secretary of state at Springfield granted a license incorporating "The Original Ober-Ammergau Passion Play Association," with a capital stock of $800,000. The names of the incorporators are Charles M. Rosenthal, Bernard Hoffman and Sigmund Zeisler.

AFTER GRIFFIN'S SCALP.

Voit Put the Nippers on Him at Columbus.

The Row Over the Free Employment Office Grows Delightfully Interesting—It's Smith v. Otis.

"Well, I put the nippers on him all right enough!" It was Gas Trustee Reynold Voit who spoke, and he was speaking of the Hon. C. P. Griffin, who, it appears, has been trying to queer Gus Smith's appointment as superintendent of the Toledo free employment office.

Smith was practically appointed two months ago on a barter and sale basis, so it is said.

He flopped to the Sherman crowd during the row at the Lucas county convention, and in return received the support of the postoffice for the free employment snap.

The Forakerites were mad, and Griffin was authorized to use his best "influence" to knock Smith out. He picked up Otis, a Central Labor union candidate, and came near having him appointed.

Voit, who seems to be engineering Smith's campaign, jumped on a train and caught Griffin in the act, so to speak, and called him down in great shape.

"We who made you can mar you," he is alleged to have threatened.

Griffin was frightened and came down from his perch. He humbly apologized, and in explanation said: "Forgive me, Voit, I know not what I did."

Thus the glassblower and the gas blower were reconciled, and Mr. Griffin permitted Mr. Smith to return to Toledo with the commission in his pocket.

So Otis is not in it, and for the matter of that neither is Smith.

Charlie Murphy is, though, and he is going to stay in it until his term expires.

SEYMOUR, OF FINDLAY,

Tries the Double-Shuffle on Uncle Samuel,

And Gets Himself Into a Deep and a Dark Hole—He Took the Advice of a Lawyer.

J. C. Seymour, a general groceryman of Findlay, arrested on a charge of retailing oleomargerine without a license, had a hearing before United States Commissioner Beckham yesterday afternoon, and by taking the advice of a Findlay lawyer Mr. Seymour gets himself in a somewhat deep hole.

He was summoned to Toledo by Collector Waldorf to explain the reasons for retailing oleomargerine without a license. He paid no heed to the notice. Again he was notified and a demand made for $48, the revenue tax. If he had taken kindly to this advice, it would have saved him time, trouble and money.

He consulted a Findlay lawyer, who, it seems, advised him to pay no attention to the notice, and if necessary to fight the case. A warrant was thereupon sworn out, and Mr. Seymour was placed under arrest and brought to Toledo.

The case came up for hearing before the commissioner, and it was proved, Mr. Seymour being the chief witness against himself.

Taking the stand he swore that he had disposed of the oleomargarine in one package, thus making himself a wholesale dealer.

The tax for a retailer is only $48, while the tax of a wholesaler is $480. Collector Waldorf immediately took his cue and marked Mr. Seymour down as debtor to Uncle Sam in the sum of $480 and the penalty.

"If Seymour had come to this office," said Mr. Waldorf this morning, "he could have settled for $48. As it is now it will cost him over $500. That comes of figuring with a lawyer who does not understand his business. I have no doubt at all but that Seymour is a retailer and sold the oleomargarine by retail, but still we must take his sworn testimony."

It does not pay to fool with Uncle Sam, that is evident. He is generally in the right, and he generally knows how to enforce his rights.

RESORTED TO PISTOLS.

An Insulting Remark Causes a Fatal Shooting.

San Antonio, Tex., June 29.—Jordan Bennett was shot through the body by John Good at Alpine, a small town 500 miles west of here yesterday.

Bennett returned the fire and wounded Good in the hip. Bennett may die.

The trouble between the men arose over the marriage of Bennett to Miss Josie Darling on Monday. Good is a friend of the Darling family. He met the couple yesterday and remarked, "Well, Josie, you have got a man at last."

The bridegroom immediately reached for his hip pocket and Good, who is an old-timer, reached for his boot.

But one shot was exchanged. The wife threw herself upon the prostrate body of her husband, and when torn from him was covered with blood. Good, it is said, was an ardent suitor of the girl.

OUR COMMON SCHOOLS

Annual Meeting of the Buckeye Teachers.

Interesting Reading for the Many Parents.

Pedagogues from all Parts of the State in Attendance at the Cleveland Session.

Cleveland, O., June 29.—The forty-sixth annual meeting of the Ohio Teachers' association will be a successful one to a remarkable degree. Hundreds of teachers from all parts of the state are in the city, and they have the interests of the association at heart.

The opening session at Association hall yesterday was devoted to the department of superintendence. The body of the hall was filled at 9 o'clock, and many were obliged to find seats in the gallery. The teachers attended strictly to the business before them, and but little time was wasted in preliminaries.

The meeting was called to order by the president of the association, Superintendent W. J. White, of Dayton. He introduced Rev. Dr. S. P. Sprecher, of the Euclid Avenue Presbyterian church, who offered the opening prayer. A statement was made relative to the papers to be read by Superintendent C. S. Fay, of Wyoming, after which Superintendent W. R. Comings, of Ironton, the president of the section, was introduced as the presiding officer. The secretary, Superintendent A. E. Gladding, of East Liverpool, was also present.

Superintendent Comings opened the program by delivering his inaugural address, which was both interesting and instructive. A great part of his remarks was devoted to a pleasing review of the growth of the common school system. In speaking of the teaching of grammar he said it should be taught to mature minds, and that it was certainly out of place in the lower grades.

He thought grammar should give place to literature and language lessons. He advocated the general introduction of the teaching of literature in the public schools, and said that the work would be facilitated if teachers were examined in this branch. Grammar, he said, failed to teach the art of speaking, and did not develop a taste for literature.

The speaker said there should be better school instruction in literary discrimination. This, in his opinion, could be largely secured by the study of literature in the schools. He thought this would be a good thing to be earnestly worked for and secured in the near future.

The address of the president received a generous welcome. A few remarks along the same line were then made by D. J. Snyder, of Reynoldsburg; Dr. J. M. Davis, president of Rio Grande college; D. E. Cowgill Delaware, and F. J. Roller, of Niles. At this time the attention of the chair was called to the fact that Dr. Alston Ellis, president of the Colorado State Agricultural college, at Fort Collins, Col., was present. He was called to the platform and made a few encouraging remarks. A recess was then taken in order that the teachers might renew their old acquaintances and make new ones.

When order had been restored the subject, "What Shall be Taught Below the High School?" was discussed. The first speaker was E. S. Cox, of Chillicothe. He is a believer in the new school of teaching. He expressed the opinion that too much time was spent by the pupils in memorizing rules, etc., which were soon forgotten.

He thought every effort should be made to render the subjects of vital interest pursued from pleasure and not from force. He spoke of what the schools were doing, and said that it was possible to overwork children and yet under-educate them. "By means of object lessons," he said, "reading books of travel, etc., a greater interest would be stimulated in study, and at the end of six years children would have a better and more lasting knowledge of the globe than they now have at the end of eight years of drudgery." The remainder of Mr. Cox's remarks were very pertinent. The question was then discussed in an interesting manner by J. W. MacKinnon, of London; H. N. Mertz, of Steubenville; C. W. Butler, of Defiance; J. P. Cummins, of Cincinnati; Sebastian Thomas, of Ashland, and F. G. Shuey, of Camden. Just before the noon adjournment ex-Superintendent L. W. Day, of the Cleveland schools, stepped on the platform and was greeted with applause which lasted for some time. Mr. Day has been a member of the association for a long time, and he is very popular with the teachers.

The attendance at the afternoon session was even larger than in the morning. The program was opened by Dr. J. J. Burns, of Canton, who gave a brief talk on "How Can the Office of State School Commissioner be Increased in Power and Efficiency?" His remarks were interesting and several methods of increasing power and efficiency were given. This question was also discussed by Hon. C. C. Miller ex-state school commissioner, of Hamilton; C. W. Bennett, of Piqua; Dr. Samuel Findley, of Akron; Dr. John McBurney, of Cambridge, and J. A. Shawan, of Columbus. A report of a committee on "How a Larger Per Cent. of Our Boys Can be Held in the High Schools" was to have been made by Rev. Dr. Sylvester F. Scovel, however, announcing his inability to. A telegram was received from Dr. Scovel, however, announcing his inability to be present. This interesting feature was therefore dispensed with. In order to fill out the afternoon session the program of the general association was encroached upon.

County Boards of Education.

The report of the legislative committee, which was to have been heard on Wednesday, was presented by Superintendent F. Treudley, of Youngstown. He spoke especially of the excellent school legislation enacted at the last session of the legislature, especially the Workman bill. Mr. Treudley said he was warmly in favor of county boards of education, which should deal with the school sub-districts. In the matter of text-books, he continued, there should be a law that was mandatory, and not permissive. "It would be a great boon," he continued, "if in connection with the office of state school commissioner there were a state board of education. This body should be composed of men and women competent to pass on educational laws for the good of the state. If we had a state board, we would have a body with power, life, and vigor which would affect the character of instruction, and the qualifications of teachers. Whatever they would recommend or commend would carry power with it. We cannot get everything we want, but we can discuss it. Take the matter of consolidation of schools. This is a question that we should discuss and educate the people upon. There is no power in small schools scattered over a city or township. There should be a law governing this in this state. In our cities the school age should be decreased from six to five years. What I have outlined are, in my judgment, needed reforms. We need concentrated efforts all along the line, and then, when our law makers go to Columbus they would be advised as to what they should do in educational matters."

The next speaker was Superintendent W. W. Denham, of Fergy. Mr. Denham was the first principal of a township high school in Ohio. He spoke along the line of Mr. Treudley's report. He said that some teachers were afraid of the Workman bill, especially the section providing for township boards of education. They fear that it would interfere with them in securing positions and hinder them in the selection of schools. The selection of teachers in the different townships would occur at the same time, and if they failed in one township there would not be a chance in another. Another objection was that township boards would class experienced with inexperienced teachers. "Let us take what we have," said Mr. Denham, "and secure better township organization. Then will come county organization, and finally state organization. We now have no state system of education. We can secure it by township, county and state organization."

CAPTAIN BORUP'S CASE.

The Excitement is Dying Out in Paris.

The Debased Official Says He Was Only Getting the Information for His Home Government.

Paris, June 29.—Public feeling regarding the charges against Capt. Borup, late military attache of the American legation, is beginning to quiet down.

There is a general disposition to accept as true his statement that whatever information he procured was procured for the war department in Washington, and that if the plans of the French government were betrayed to Germany and Italy, Capt. Borup had nothing to do with it.

The prompt action of the American government has also tended to allay the popular indignation aroused at first by the charge.

The Figaro says to-day that if Capt. Borup acted in the interests of Germany and Italy he has been guilty of a most grave abuse of the hospitality of France; but if he acted solely in behalf of the government at Washington, then he can procure absolution by invoking the precedents for his conduct in the case of other military attaches.

Capt. Borup's superiors at Washington, says the Figaro, probably did not object to his efforts to obtain valuable military information, although they would undoubtedly censure his folly in allowing himself to be discovered.

FELL TO HIS DEATH.

Frightful Accident at the Niagara Falls Bridge.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., June 29.—A frightful accident occurred here yesterday. Painters were busy on the tower of the new suspension bridge on the Canadian side when a piece of scantling supporting a scaffold on which were Stephen Duffy and Charles Johnson broke.

Duffy pitched head foremost down the dizzy height, fully 100 feet, to the stone foundations of the tower and was smashed to pieces.

His head was simply a mass of pulp, and broke the heavy stone where he struck. Johnson fortunately caught one of the guy cables and saved himself.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Grover Cleveland.

To the Editor: I am one of those who confess to having a liking for certain names, and that of our candidate for President suits me to a dot. Let us see what we can make out of the initials, in other words, what will "G. C." stand for. Here is a hasty list: Grand captain, good commander, glorious canvass, general celebrity, gigantic coalition, governs consistently, genial calmness, generous chieftain, gather courage, give ctsting vote, great capability, grows conversant, guide conservative, gainful cabinet.

The list might be extended, but the first and last are enough for me. He is, without doubt, a genuine catcher.

LOVE-SONG.

I feel the magic spirit of
Her presence in the May,
Whose witching beauties breathe of love
Along the flowered way.
In the pink rose I see her face
Carven so frail and sweet;
The subtle music of her grace
Blows in the dimpled wheat.
I hear the rustle of her gown
While breezes stir the trees;
Whene'er they shake a blossom down,
She throws a kiss to me.

Of Tennyson's interest in Walt Whitman, a friend of the latter, J. H. Johnston, delights to tell. A careful woman dwells in Canterbury, N. H. She has had a lamp chimney in constant use for 20 years, and it is still without a flaw. A rich man in England died and left his money to three people, with a proviso in the will that each of them should put $500 in the coffin of the deceased, to be buried with him. Two of them having deposited $500 each in gold in the coffin, the third wrote out a check for $1,500, and calmly took possession of "the change."

This story is told of the famous bandmaster, P. S. Gilmore: When a young man he engaged a room for a few nights, but was unable to sleep because of a piano in the next house, which was kept going all night long. A lady in the adjoining room to Gilmore also owned a piano. He borrowed it one night and found peace and comfort thereafter by simply playing: "I'm tired now, and sleepy, too."

Archbishop Farrar is credited by the London News with a wish that memorials might be erected in Westminster Abbey of such reformers as William Lloyd Garrison, such rulers as Grant, Lincoln and Washington and such authors as Hawthorne and Lowell; but the old difficulty of space, as has been announced, prevents. At the present moment there is positively room for only two more statues, Tennyson and Gladstone.

A resident of Blakely, Ga., has a new mode of catching fish. The fish are baited for some days with a mixture of flour and magnetized steel filings made into a stiff paste or dough. When they begin to take the bate a magnetized iron or steel rod, coated with the same kind of paste, is let down to them. They soon attempt to suck the paste from it, and in doing so soon stick hard and fast. It is not unusual for a fisherman to haul out at one time a long string or rod of suckers in this way.

Recently a very large concern, which has been manufacturing gold watch cases in Bond street for many years, decided to go out of business. After all the other arrangements had been concluded the building was sold, the sellers reserving the right, however, to remove everything except the exterior walls. The inner walls and floors were taken out and burned, and the ashes carefully searched for gold dust and filings. Fifteen thousand dollars' worth of gold is said to have been recovered in this manner.

A correspondent writes from Calcutta, India, of a most inhuman practice carried on there by the native infantry. He says that a regiment is summoned to the jail at Alpore every six months to fire ten rounds of blank ammunition in the direction of the sixteen hundred convicts imprisoned there. These unfortunates crouch down in their cells and tremble with fear, expecting every moment to be put to death. It is supposed that the authorities do this to intimidate and prevent the prisoners from attempting to escape. To add to this inhuman practice the lieutenant-governor and other high officials witness the parade from the roof of the jail.

CATCHING AN OUTLAW.

"I was driving from Malone to Fort Covington, up in Franklin county, once," said John Gilbert, the traveling groceryman, "and as I drew near to a rickety looking house close to the roadside I saw a team and sleigh approaching from the opposite direction. The team stopped near the house, and four men alighted. They walked toward a big burly fellow who was chopping wood in the yard. When he saw the men he dropped his axe, scooted around the house, and the next I saw of him he was tearing like a race horse across a field back of the house. The four men started after him, and one of them began to bang away at him with a pistol.

"'Well,' said I, 'this opens well; I'll stop and see how she winds up.'

"The hubbub had brought a strapping big woman out of the house. When she saw the man tearing across lots toward the woods with the men at his heels she rushed back into the house. In five seconds she reappeared with a big dog, which needed no urging to start after the pursuers of the flying man. The dog soon overtook the hindmost man of the party, and springing on him, threw him down in the snow. The dog kept right on, caught the next man, and hurled him heels over head in the snow. The third man was served in the same manner. The man who had the pistol was far ahead of the rest, and kept banging away at the fugitive.

"Before the dog overtook the fourth man he had succeeded in putting a ball into the fugitive, who tumbled headlong to the ground. The man with the pistol then turned and opened fire on the dog as it rushed toward him and lodged a bullet in its leg. The dog turned and limped back toward the house. The three men who had been tumbled in the snow by the dog had gathered themselves up in the meantime and hurried on to join the man with the pistol. The woman had been watching the chase, and yelling words of encouragement to the flying man. When he dropped from the pistol shot, she yelled like a panther, and then seeing me sitting in my wagon, a disinterested but somewhat excited spectator, she shrieked out at me:

"'What a-settin' there fur like a bump on a log, you? Why don't you pitch in and help Pete agin them fellers?'

"Not being in on the merits of the case I didn't know what to say, but the woman didn't wait for any reply, for the men were coming back toward the house carrying the wounded fugitive between them, and the woman had run out to meet them, gesticulating wildly, and threatening the men with dire vengeance. The wounded man was groaning and moaning as if in the greatest agony. His captors said he was seriously wounded, and they hurried with him to their sleigh in order to get him to a physician as soon as possible, they said. They laid him in the sleigh, and drew on their heavy fur overcoats, which they had laid aside when the chase began. When they had enveloped themselves in their coats and had got into their seats the wounded man sprang out of the sleigh like a deer and before his captors could recover from their surprise had put a long distance between him and them on his way to the woods. The woman who had continued her loud berating and threatening of the men without cessation, jumped up and down with glee when she saw the wounded man once more flying toward cover.

"'Go it, Pete!' she yelled. 'Go it! Make fer the big tamarack swamp! They never kin ketch ye! Leg it fer all you're worth!'

"Three of the pursuers or kidnappers or whatever they might have been, jumped from the sleigh and forthwith put the horses on a dead run after the man. The course lay over a piece of ground that had been newly cleared, and was thick with stumps, brush piles and logs. The man in the sleigh urged the horses over the rough ground at a surprising pace, but they had gone but a few rods when one of them stumbled and fell, dragging its mate with it. But they got up quickly to their feet again and away they went. Then the sleigh struck a stump and was upset, throwing the driver out among the brush. By the time he was up and had the sleigh righted the fugitive was almost to the woods.

"The three other men had joined in the chase again, and they floundered along over the logs and stumps, yelling and firing pistols at the object of their pursuit who was putting in his best licks. In jumping over a brush pile to make a short cut he tripped and fell, and fell again immediately after regaining his feet. That gave his pursuers time to come up within easy pistol shot of him, and the man was peppered on every side by the bullets they rained upon him. He jumped to his feet and threw up his hands.

"'Durn your clumsy hocks!' yelled the man's wife. 'Pete, you hain't no good!'

"With that she went back into the house, muttering and, I think, swearing. She slammed the door and didn't show herself again during any of the subsequent proceedings. Her husband's pursuers seized him, and marched him back, this time in very rough double-quick time. The team and sleigh were brought out to the road, the man's feet and arms were bound with ropes, and he was flung into the sleigh, full length on the bottom, with no more ceremony than if he had been a side of beef. Then the party started with him toward Malone.

"I found out at Fort Covington that the man was a desperado named Peter Leclair, who had long been the terror of that part of the state. Although known to be a burglar, highway robber and general thief, and strongly suspected of being a murderer, he had defied the authorities for years. He was wanted for robberies committed the previous fall, but had kept himself hidden in the mountains, where he had numerous retreats. It having been learned that severe weather had driven him from the hills to his backwoods farm near Fort Covington, where his wife lived alone, the sheriff of the county had determined to take a posse and capture him. That was the little circus that I had witnessed. The wound that brought Pete down was in the fleshy part of the hip, and, although not dangerous, he had played it for all it was worth. He was sent to state prison and I am reminded of this incident in his career by learning that his dime ran out recently, and that he has gone promptly to work at his old tricks again in the tamarack belt."

ABOUT PEOPLE.

Miss Mary Augusta Scott has been elected a fellow of Yale University. She is also a graduate and master of arts of Vassar, has studied at Johns Hopkins, and was a student in honors at Cambridge University, England. She will now proceed to the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

James H. Miller, postmaster at Gauley Bridge, W. Va., was appointed by President William Henry Harrison over 50 years ago, and is probably the oldest postmaster in the country. He has retained his office through all the political changes of the last half century, and at the age of 86 years is as prompt and efficient as any postmaster in the state. During the late war Mr. Miller's office was several times within the confederate lines, but he was never disturbed or annoyed in any way.

It now appears that Alcaeus Hooper of Baltimore is the person who gave $250,000 for a woman's college at Johns Hopkins University a few days ago. At the time the gift was announced his name was withheld from the public. Mr. Hooper is the youngest son of the late William E. Hooper, a manufacturer of cotton duck, and he inherited several hundred thousand dollars. On account of their children's health he and his wife have been living in Asheville, N. C., for several months, occasionally visiting Baltimore.

STALE MILK.

Infants Die from Want of Proper Food.

Death Rate from Cholera Infantum Grows.

Infant Mortality Credited to Hot Weather.

Boon Within the Reach of Every Family.

Letters from Happy Mothers in Ohio Towns.

"The infants have got to suffer for two or three months now," said a physician to a Bee yesterday.

"The health board returns say that in June last many infants died of cholera infantum. June, July and August are fatal months for children.

"Cholera infantum, under which title many cases of indigestion are reported, is a preventable disease." And he showed the reporter a recent report in which two remedies were mentioned; one was giving the children a change of air, the other providing proper nourishment.

The proper nourishment is nature's food, or when that fails, the nearest thing to it, which is nothing more or less than lactated food.

The board of health in Boston, not long ago, investigated the cause of 374 deaths from cholera infantum, and they found that more than 250 of the little victims had been fed upon cow's milk, and among the number there was no death reported where lactated food had been used.

These figures simply bear out the theory recently advanced by Dr. Vaughn, of the Michigan board of health, who says that the most fatal cause of cholera infantum and kindred fatal diseases among children is stale cow's milk.

Many a mother knowing of the danger in cow's milk has attempted to nurse her child in the hot summer, because she feared to feed it partially or wholly. But lactated food will take the place of mother's milk, remove all dangers that lurk in stale cow's milk and keep the child strong and well during this dangerous season.

The experience of hundreds of physicians, public institutions and mothers prove that lactated food is a perfect diet for young children during the hot summer months when so many fall victims to cholera infantum. No less authority than Dr. Guernsey, senior editor of the New York Medical Times, says that he uses this lactated food with children, and commends it highly. There are many physicians in Toledo who prescribe it invariably. The manufacturers have hundreds of letters from happy mothers in the towns of this state, who have used it successfully where everything else failed.

It must be borne in mind that lactated food is so inexpensive that it is within the reach of every family. One hundred and fifty meals can be made from a dollar package of this food, and the food prepared for the use of infants will cost less than five cents a quart.

Many families keep it constantly on hand, for the food is not only of inestimable value for babies, but invalids and the aged, in fact, all whose digestion is in the least weakened, enjoy this nourishing preparation and live a happier and longer life because of it.

GOLD BEATING.

Making the Thinnest Sheets Turned Out by the Hand of Man.

There is probably nothing made by man that is as thin as a sheet of gold leaf. It is nothing more than a film, and is almost as light as air. The softness and tenacity of the metal, two opposite attributes which it possesses to a remarkable degree, render possible an operation that would reduce any other metal to powder. The thickness of the leaves vary. Some say that the thinnest have a thickness of but one-two-hundred-and-fifty-thousandth of an inch. So thin is the film of metal in the leaves that they are transparent. But instead of the beautiful golden-yellow color which gold is believed to possess, when held to the light they appear to be of a rich deep green.

Every one of the thin square inches of gold that the beater begins on makes sixteen pieces of gold leaf. Including the waste, each inch is beaten out into leaves sufficient to cover an area of 400 square inches, which is larger than a good-sized gentleman's handkerchief. A gold bar, when beaten out, will carpet a ballroom 75 feet long by 66 feet wide.

An impression is given from seeing the men swing the heavy mallets that goldbeaters as a class are particularly strong and healthy. This is not so. Their work is confining, and while their arms are strong and muscular they are not more healthy than any other class of men whose work keeps them indoors. Their work is steady, and they earn from $12 to $16 a week. Some of the work of trimming and preparing the molds for the beater is done by the wives and daughters of several of the men at their houses.

A term of four years is not considered too long a time in which to learn the trade. Much skill is required in beating, so as to spread the metal evenly and keep the skins in good order. It is a trade that men seem to stick to. Men have remained in one place for 25 years, and in one of the half-dozen factories in Philadelphia the present foreman has been in charge 40 years.

SANDWICH ISLANDS.

Economy the Watchword of the Legislature.

San Francisco, June 29.—Advices from Honolulu are that the legislature is still in session. Economy is the order of the day, but in the appropriation bill, which is now being considered, high salaries for justices remain untouched, while district judges salaries have been cut.

Queen Dowager Kapiolini will probably lose her annuity, or at best will receive less than one half the amount given her last session. Many petitions have been presented among them those asking that the duty on rice be retained, and that duties be levied on imported hogs; that there be no territory ceded for any new treaty with the United States and that the Hawaiian government to decry all attempts at annexation.

The case of C. W. Ashford, the brother of Col. Volney Ashford, relative to his eligibility to a seat in the assembly has been decided in his favor and he is now the acknowledged leader of the liberal party.

Of the national reform party, the leadership still remains in doubt. Representative Ashford on the 20th inst. made an indirect attack on the ministry by presenting resolutions petitioning Attorney General Whiting and Marshal Wilson relative to the current rumors that they and some of their subordinates had concerted with Bloom and Douglas, the Australian defaulters, during the stay of the Beagle in Hawaiian waters, and that they suppressed evidence of the identity of Bloom and Douglas, thus preventing their apprehension by Australian authorities. The attorney-general is also asked a number of questions concerning the disposition of diamonds smuggled in Honolulu by one Rubens in February, 1891.

Admiral Brown is rapidly recovering the use of his injured leg.

"It has cured others and will cure you" is true only of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The motto suits the medicine and the medicine the motto. What better assurance could you have hat a remedy will cure you, than the fact that it has cured such multitudes of others?

MEETING IN AKRON.

Annual Session of the Y. P. S. C. E.

Secretary Francis' Report Read and Received with Marked Attention.

Akron, O., June 29.—The annual convention of the Y. P. S. C. E. of Ohio, which opened in the First Baptist church in this city, put in a busy day.

Nearly two thousand persons were crowded into the church, over half of them being delegates. The delegates are apparently here for a purpose, and entered into the work of the sessions with a will.

The morning session, which began at 9 o'clock, was presided over by Rev. W. F. McCauley, president of the Ohio State union.

A brief devotional exercise was followed by the address of the state corresponding secretary, Charles L. France, of Toledo.

The report is interesting in the facts that it presents and very encouraging to the workers.

The annual convention last year at Toledo was attended by delegates representing 828 societies. There were at that time 38,000 members, of whom 30,115 were classed as active. There were, when the present report was printed, 1,350 societies, with an active membership of 33,500, and an associate membership which raises the total to 44,436. Since the the preparation of this report, the secretary says, the total number of members in the state is found to be nearly 49,000.

President McCauley read a report which embodied a summary of the work done, especially of the great work accomplished by Secretary France. Among his recommendations were the following: That in every county there should either be a union or a county secretary, and that the societies over the state contribute more liberally to the state union and thus enable it to do much good in the way of distributing literature and also to permit preparation of this report, the secretary the holding of a midyear convention, which would be only second in interest to the annual state convention.

Both of the official reports were received with applause and the officers were honored by the "C. E. salute."

Three sub-topics were discussed under the general heading, "The Prayer Meeting." The first, "How to Secure Graduates From the Verse Readers' Class," was treated of by Miss Lillie M. Knight, of Cleveland. The paper, prepared by Rev. A. E. Davis, of Columbus, on "The Application of the Prayer Meeting Topic," in the absence of Rev. Davis, was read by Rev. J. F. Sheperd, of the United Brethren church of this city. The third sub-topic, "Christian Endeavor and Mid-week Prayer Meeting," was discussed by Miss Grace R. Sisler, of Akron. The addresses were full of interest and abounded in good business sense.

Rev. F. E. Clark, D. D., the foremost man of the order, president of the United society, arrived during the discussion of this topic and was given a cordial welcome. His visit to the convention was very limited, and the regular order was dispensed with in order to give Dr. Clark an opportunity to conduct the question bureau. His answers to the questions presented proved him to be complete master of the details of the work of which he is the head.

"Essentials to Christian Endeavor Success," was handled under the heads, "Promptness," "System" and "Enthusiasm," by the following persons respectively: Miss Carrie B. Phelps, of Toledo; Miss Nathalie Morganstein, of Cincinnati, and Rev. W. A. Hutchinson, of Franklin.

The evening session opened with a devotional exercise. Addresses were delivered by Rev. J. P. Landis, of Dayton, and Rev. F. E. Clark, of Boston.

The assistant secretaries of the convention are all from Cleveland. They are Will Hopkins, Bertha Spear, Ed Sanderson and Edgar Weirs.

A WONDERFUL MACHINE.

There is no doubt that man is a fine mechanism, but like every other machine he wears out by friction. It is said that he is born again every two or three years. His body is virtually re-made from food. To retard this making over is radically wrong, as a man loses so much vitality in the delayed process that it takes a long time to recuperate. The process of making anew is so accelerated by purging with Brandreth's Pills that a new man, as it were, may be made in two or three months, and the change in the mechanism is such that the worn out part is replaced by the new without the usual running down of the entire machine. You don't have to stop for repairs. Purge away with Brandreth's Pills the old, diseased and worn out body. They are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless, and safe to take at any time.

RIGHT FROM HEADQUARTERS

Tracy is to Take Secretary Blaine's Place.

Cheney, of New Hampshire, to be Made Secretary of the Navy.

New York, June 29.—M. H. De Young of California was at the Fifth Avenue hotel last night.

"I have a bit of news for you," said he to the newspaper man who hurried to greet him, and the Californian's black eyes snapped with pride as the professional instinct asserted itself. "Gen. Tracy is going to take the vacant place in the state department and Mr. Cheney of New Hampshire is going into the cabinet as Tracy's successor as secretary of the navy. This is straight, and both appointments have been settled upon by the president."

GEN. BRAGG'S FAMOUS SENTENCE

Gen. Bragg will not get off another utterance so timely and so brilliant as that which made him famous in 1884. "We love him for the enemies he has made" is a strong sentence. But the idea is not Bragg's. It occurs in a letter which Chas. Lamb wrote to Thomas Carlyle many years before Grover Cleveland was heard of. Lamb wrote: "We love him for the enemies he must have made." Now, was Bragg's famous utterance a coincidence or an assimilation or an appropriation?

Wheat Quotations for the Day—Price Currents for Produce and Other Articles.

The writer has returned from a short trip amongst the wheat fields, and in this part of Ohio the conditions are similar to those reported in these columns from here to Pittsburg this month. It is an irregular crop. Over the distance we have just traveled perhaps 20 per cent. of the fields look like yielding well, and leading down to very poor fields.

We are more and more fully convinced by daily developments, that the winter wheat crop will be largely deficient. We do not now believe in an average of the year previous to the last crop.

Beerbohm is reported as estimating the crop of India at 64,000,000 bu. under the production of last year. This is an extraordinary estimate from so conservative a gentleman, but we place great faith in Beerbohm's statements.

The receipts of wheat to-day at Minneapolis and Duluth are 345,672 bu., and at five other western points 303,755 bu., an aggregate of 649,427 bu. On the same Wednesday in 1891 the receipts from these same points were 207,588 bu.

The export clearances yesterday from four Atlantic ports were: Wheat, 276,175 bu., and flour to an aggregate of 475,000 bu. Exports of corn, 108,283 bu., and of oats 68,152 bu.

English markets open steady for wheat and 1-2c lower for corn.

The Markets To-day.

Crop news yesterday and to-day from our own and foreign fields has been limited, but it is hard to advance and maintain an advance in wheat. The July future hovers around between 78c and 79c. If stocks in this country and abroad were only natural, prices would start, but the receipts indicate that there is plenty to sell and a disposition to sell it. For example the receipts of wheat for the last six days at Toledo, Detroit, Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Louis, Minneapolis and Duluth have been 3,448,000 bushels, against 1,105,000 bushels in the corresponding six days in 1891, 706,000 bushels in 1890, and 927,000 bushels in 1889.

The price of corn already represents a reasonably short crop. Fifty-one cents for corn for July and 72c for July wheat is a good grain. The maintenance of a higher price for corn depends much upon the remaining stock of old corn. To us it seems a liberal estimate to expect three-fourths of last year's production and all the conditions must be favorable from now to ensure a crop of even that extent.

The markets have been quiet and steadier than usual, and the closing prices of wheat show no improvement, and July corn a gain of 3-8c to 1-2c.

Oats are much stronger and July closes 1c at Chicago and 1-2c at New York higher.

In Toledo—Business has been very quiet and limited. The trading has been mostly in July and August and without new or interesting features. Prices have not moved up or down but little, and close where they did yesterday. On the call July wheat sold at 82 7-8c, and September at 83c. After the call June sold at 86 1-8c and closed at 1-4c; July sold at 83c to 83 3-8c, and closed at 1-4c; August sold at 82 1-4c to 1-2c, and closed at 1-4c; September sold at 83c and closed at 83 1-4c.

Cash wheat was moderately active without change in price. No. 2 soft sold at 86 1-8c and closed at 1-4c; No. 3 soft, 82 1-4c and at 1-2c in L. S.; rejected No. 1 at 78c; No. 2 at 70c; red and white at 84 1-2c.

Corn—No. 2 for July at 51c; No. 3 at 47c. No. 4 at 37c; No. 3 yellow at 50 1-2. Oats—No. 2 at 34 1-2c.

Clover seed—On the call October sold at $5 20.

CLOSE IN NEW YORK.

New York, June 29.—Money on call loaned at easy rates—1 1-2@2 per cent. Exchange quiet; posted rates 488@489; actual rates 487@487 1-4 for 60 days and 488@488 1-4 for demand.

Governments steady; currency 6s 106 bid; 4s coup. 117 bid; extended 2s registered 100 bid.

The sales of stock on the stock exchange this morning amounted to only 51,869 shares. Prices were irregular but the fluctuations in most cases were trifling. In the first hour the market was weak and prices declined 1-8 to 3-4, the latter in Whisky trusts, but in the noon hour there was a full recovery in some cases. The principal trading was in St. Paul, Reading, Chicago Gas and a few others. At 1 p. m. the market is stagnant with prices slightly changed.

New York, June 29.—Flour moderately active and steady; Minnesota, $2 35@4 85; city mill extra, $4 25@4 55 for West Indies; fine, $1 70@2 25; superfine, $1 90@2 60.

Wheat opened steady at unchanged prices, but soon weakened and fell 1-4c; No. 2 red winter 93 1-2c cash; June 86 5-8c; July 86 7-8c; August 87 3-8c; September 87 5-8c.

Corn opened steady but soon strengthened and advanced half by noon; No. 2 mixed 60 cas; 59 1-4c June; 57 3-8c July; 56 1-4c August.

Oats dull; No. 2 mixed 39c cash; 38 5-8c July; 37 1-2c August.

Rye quiet and steady; quote at 83@87 for car lots.

Barley neglected.

Molasses quiet; New Orleans 30@36c for good to fancy. Sugar refined in better demand; cutloaf and crushed 5@5 1-8c; powdered 4 3-4@4 7-8c; granulated 4 3-8@4 5-8c. Coffee dull; fair rio cargoes 16c. Tugs Trying to Break the Chicago Blockade.

Vessels Arriving Faster Than Departing.

Interesting News Gathered from all Ports—Vessel Passages—Local and General Mention.

Chicago, June 29.—(Special)—The managers of the four Chicago tug lines were doing their level best yesterday with the 50 powerful tugs at their command to regulate the disorder in the river created by the recent current and embargo. Numerous craft were towed out and others were gotten to the wharves they were consigned to, but a big additional fleet arrived off the harbor during the day, and the clamor from vessel masters and owners was as great as on any day during the past 10 days.

There are so many large grain steamers congregated about the south branch elevators that they are in the way of each other and of all craft passing up and down, and the movements of the tugs with their tows is thus necessarily slow. That the vessel dispatchers, harbor-masters and tug captains have done and are doing good work is evident by the fact that three have been no cases of serious damage; that vessels have not been sunk in this crowded, crooked harbor is simply one of the wonders.

Craft which got to their wharves in the south branch yesterday to unload cargoes were the Ottawa, Seaman, Oakleaf, Penobscot, Fred Mercur (to load), Stafford, J. A. Holmes, Libbie Nau, L. B. Shepard, Filer, Olga, Tolbec, Isabella Sands, Grandy, American Union, Toledo, J. B. Merril, G. A. Marsh, Alice, B. Calkins, Riverside, Butironi (to finish loading), Ford River, Waukesha, G. I. Colwell, A. B. C. F. M., Stampede, Jennie Mullen, John Spry, Sermen, Marshall, Jessie Parwell, J. H. Rutter, S. J., Tilden, Cuba (Canadian), Cape Horn, Menominee.

Craft getting out of the south branch were the Markham, E. E. Thompson, M. T. Green, Clyde, J. L. Green, L. M. Davis, C. J. MaGill, Walter Vail, Kate Lyons, Moses Cage, M. D. Ayer, Butcher Boy, Radical, Baltic, H. A. Richmond, A. Bates, M. F. Butters, Commerce, T. H. Smith City of Paris, L. A. Simpson, H. C. Winslow, C. H. Hackley.

The Winslow and Hackley were at the bend last night bound up the north branch to finish loading. The schooners Thomas L. Parker, Winnie Wing Dobins and others were also lying at the bend waiting for tugs.

Among the new arrivals outside were the Jessie Boyce, Levi Grant and George Boyce. Up to dark last evening the fleet waiting at the mouth or at the anchorage, had again increased to about 130 vessels. Line steamers are being given all the dispatch possible, but the work of transfering them is necessarily very slow. The Lake Michigan passengehs and freight steamers are getting in and out of the harbor again about on time.

Fitzsimmons & Connell have commenced work in earnest at the cofferdam at Van Buren street, and their men say the task of removing the piles will now be vigorously prosecuted until all are drawn and out of the way. It is doubtful, however, if that portion of the channel can be used for ten days yet. The driftwood, logs, etc., which accumulated in the dam is gradually getting away and coming down the river and will cause trouble by getting into the wheels of steamers and tugs. One of the tugs and the steamer Colwell suffered damage from this cause.

Water in the river is down to almost its usual stage and difficulty is no longer encountered in towing because of the current.

Ore Rates.

Cleveland, June 29.—Very little ore tonnage has been offered on this market since Monday, but shippers are not pressed for boats, and there are no indications of an immediate change either way. Not a single Escanaba boat was offered Wednesday morning and yet even brokers did look for advance. In Two Harbors shippers want boats at $1.05 to South Chicago and $1.10 to Ohio ports, but Ashland shippers refuse to pay latter rate. Little chartering at 95c from Marquette is only feature of interest. Only one shipper has, as yet, paid 60c on coal to Milwaukee. Others are offering but 55c.

Buffalo.

Buffalo, June 29.—Coal freights are quiet and firm with more demand for boats than supply. Charters—Turner, Bay City, 35c; McDougall, Buckout, Saginaw, 40c; Thomas Wilson, Hundred Four, Duluth, 35c.

Rose leave properly cured with salt make a deliciously fragrant pillow. All that is necessary to cure the leaves for this purpose is to pack them in layers of salt, turning them every day for about a week. By this time they should be thoroughly cured. Mix them with a few spices, as directed for the potpourri, and pack them between layers of wool; or, if you prefer, you may simply dry the rose leaves, and when a sufficient quantity is dried fill the pillow.

MOULTON HOUK, G. P. A.

A correspondent of the Christian Union tells an anecdote concerning the late Rev. Dr. Samuel A. Clark, of Elizabeth, N. J., a well known clerical wit, who yet knew perfectly well the proper limits of levity, and never wounded a friend's feelings or marred a sacred place or moment with his irrepressible fun. At the First church congress held in New York in the year 1874, a friend leaned forward and whispered: "What, Brother Clark! are you going to read an essay to-day?" "Certainly," was the immediate reply; "I am known to the church as S. A. Clark."

SLOW, BUT SAFE,

And the Conductor Explained Why They Ran the Cars.

Last Tuesday a North Side woman waved her umbrella frantically at a carette a block away and hailed the driver in a shrill, small voice. He stopped. She walked leisurely toward the vehicle, climbed in, paid her fare, rode about 100 yards and then said hurriedly, to the conductor:

"I've got to get some meat at the butcher shop. It will only take a minute. Will you wait?"

"Yes, ma'am."

She got out, went into the meat market and emerged in due season with a piece of liver wrapped in brown paper.

"Now, conductor," she said, as she climbed aboard again, "I want to go to a grocer's on the next street east."

"We don't run on that street."

"You don't? Then stop. I want to get out. And I've paid my fare, too. It's a shame. I thought you ran these things for the accommodation of the public."

"No, ma'am," answered the conductor plaintively, waiting a moment for her to step out, and then signalling the driver to go ahead, "we run these things to worry old Yerkes."—Chicago Tribune.

EXPLOSION.

Natural Gas Causes Some Excitement in Columbus.

Columbus, O., June 29.—Escaping natural gas caused an explosion in the confectionery store of Robert Dent, 17 East State street, at 7:30 this morning.

The explosion ignited a quantity of fire works and there was a violent fusilade for a few minutes. Daniel Cramer was blown into the back yard, his face and body badly burned and bruised, but not fatally.

The front door was hurled from its hinges and Robert Dent, Jr., who was entering, was thrown into the street, but not seriously injured. Loss about $1,000.

The most valuable and costly present received by the king and queen of Denmark at the recent celebration of their golden wedding is said to have been a massive silver table service, the gift of the landed proprietors of the kingdom. The work is the largest silver production ever made in Denmark. It weighs almost 450 pounds.

A most ingenious system is employed by which the director of the Suez canal can tell at a glance the exact position of all vessels passing through it. A model is placed in the office at Port Said, and the whole canal is worked from headquarters by means of telegraph, the position of each ship being marked by a figure on the model. It is, therefore, easy to arrange for vessels passing each other.

The chance of a life-time is worth looking after!

You can get there quickly and comfortably by taking Santa Fe Route. Only line with no change of cars from Chicago, Kansas City and other principal cities to Florissant, nearest railroad station, with daily stages to Fremont.
